

Large warehouse planned in city

By HENRY CANTIN

A resolution authorizing the issuance of nearly $5 million in industrial development revenue bonds to finance the construction of a multi-million dollar warehouse in Romulus has been approved by the City Council.

The industrial bond issue, not to exceed $4,800,000, will be used to pay the costs of acquiring and constructing an industrial building and site, machinery and equipment, plus incidental costs to the issuance of the revenue bonds.

The motion to approve and adopt the industrial development revenue bond issue, reported to be the first for the city, was made by Councilman James C. Stewart. He was supported by Councilman Edmund W. Bizek. The roll call vote of the council was 6-1 in favor of the resolution, with councilman William M. Oakley voting against it.

The industrial building, site, machinery and equipment will be located on the southwest corner of Wick and Inkster roads and will be leased to Great Scott Supermarkets, Inc.

The bonds to be issued, if the Michigan Municipal Finance Commission approves, will not be a general obligation of the city and will not be payable from any taxes of other city funds. They will be payable only from rentals to be paid by Great Scott Supermarkets, Inc., located at 1111 E. Eight Mile Rd., Ferndale, the council resolution stated.

City Attorney John E. Young has been instructed to prepare the lease documents and necessary application to the Michigan Municipal Finance Commission, all of which are subject to final approval by the council.

The resolution stated the city council "deems it necessary for the public welfare of the city, in order to alleviate and prevent conditions of unemployment and to retain industry and to strengthen and revitalize the economy of the city in general, to provide for the insurance of said industrial development revenue bonds pursuant to Act. No. 62, Public Acts of Michigan, 1963, to defray of acquiring and constructing the project."

Voters of Romulus may demand a referendum on the bond issue within 45 days after publication of the council's action, the city attorney reported.

Preliminary plans for the construction of the huge warehouse have been filed with the Romulus Building Department. Initial plans show the grocery section of the warehouse will have 235,144 square feet, truck parking and warehouse dock, 136,800 square feet, garage facility, 91,000 square feet, and tractor and trailer parking area, 221,540 square feet.

The warehouse will also contain a frozen food section with 21,660 square feet of space. It will have a dairy and produce section with 50,540 square feet and a meat section with 21,660 square feet of space.

The proposed facility will be 1,764-by-1,145 feet in size with more than two million square feet of operating space.

Court claims county deceived taxpayers

The Michigan Supreme Court has charged Wayne County officials deceived and misled the public about financial arrangements for Detroit's proposed $126 million riverfront sports stadium.

The court made its charge last Wednesday when it issued its written opinion after the June 16 ruling declaring the sale of stadium construction bonds unconstitutional and void.

Justice G. Mennen Williams, who wrote the majority opinion, said Wayne County government officials told prospective bondholders that Wayne County taxpayers could be liable to pay off the bonds.

This meant that bond buyers could be assured of getting their bonds paid off from regular county tax income if the stadium failed to make enough money to pay off the bonds.

However, the majority opinion said, county officials did not give the taxpayers that information in the legal advertising notices which informed citizens of the proposed bond sale.

The opinion of the court said:

"The key language describing the real nature of these bonds is one short paragraph that was neatly excised from notices but prominently displayed in notices to bondholders..."

"In each notice to the taxpayers, the eye-opening and wallet-jolting message of the tax paragraph was curiously absent. At the same time, the message of this tax paragraph was conspicuously present and brought home over and over in notices to bondholders."

The court also stated that advertising notices designed to inform citizens they could call a public referendum on the whole stadium deal were printed in such small type that citizens could easily have missed them.

"The notice is misleading," Justice Williams wrote. "Misleading process is not due process."

Romulus gets new postmaster

The City of Romulus has a new postmaster.

He is Wilfred J. Laginess, 36, of 37612 Castle Dr., Romulus, a member of the United Postal System since 1958.

The appointment of Laginess as the new Romulus postmaster was announced by U.S. Congressman William D. Ford. The appointment became effective on Saturday, Sept. 2.

Laginess joined the postal service in 1958 after his discharge from the U.S. Navy, where he served a four-year tour of duty.

He and his wife, Merald, are the parents of one son and five daughters, Michelle, Marcia, Wayne, Merald, Margaret and Melanie.

The new postmaster succeeds George Austin, who retired last May after serving

The court's opinion indirectly spelled out three ways in which the stadium could be financed legally. One of the three ways is to submit the whole proposal to the voters of Wayne County for approval or rejection.

Mayor Royce E. Smith of Belleville, who along with Marc Allen, investment counselor from Grosse Pointe Woods, initiated the Wayne County Circuit Court suit to halt the construction of the proposed stadium, contended that taxpayers monies could not be used to finance a private business.

On Wednesday when the Supreme Court handed down its decision upholding the suit, the telephone in Mayor Smith's business office rang almost constantly thanks to his supporters.

"I feel like throwing a party," Smith said happily. "But it would have been too much like tooting your own horn. I had been told by people that if I lost, I was going to be a goat, the biggest sacrificial lamb there was. But we won."

Smith said he filed the suit in behalf of himself and the 2,406 residents of Belleville. Smith pointed out that even Henry Ford II and his brother, William Clay Ford, to his knowledge, are not supporters of the proposed stadium's location.

If they were he asked, why wasn't the stadium proposal included in their plans for

WILFRED J. LAGINESS

14 years as postmaster, Austin also is a Romulus resident.

Laginess was born in River Rouge on April 15, 1936. He came to Romulus in 1958 and shortly afterwards started as a mail carrier at the Romulus Post Office.

Suit filed to stop city from maintaining road

By HENRY CANTIN

A lawsuit seeking to restrain the City of Romulus from expending city funds for the improvement and maintenance of a private road has been initiated in Wayne County Circuit Court.

The suit, filed by B. B. Moshier, Romulus attorney, representing Bill B. Moshier and Carol Moshier, Romulus property owners, has been assigned to Circuit Court Judge George E. Bowles.

The court has set Friday for a show cause hearing on why an injunction requested in the suit should not be issued against the city.

At the Aug. 22 city council session, an order was issued by the council directing the Department of Public Works (DPW) to start road maintenance on Herman Street, located west of Ozga Road in Romulus.

The motion to have the road improved and maintained was made by Councilman Ellis T.

Pennington, supported by Councilman Brooker R. Edwards.

Voting for the motion were Councilmen Edmund W. Bizek and Council President Jimmie Raspberry, in addition to Pennington and Edwards. Voting against the motion were Councilmen William M. Oakley and Fred Junior Block.

Councilman James C. Stewart, who voted for the motion, later stated he was opposed and wasn't given an opportunity by the council president to speak against the motion before the vote was taken.

In their suit the Moshiers disclosed they are the owners of numerous parcels of land located in the city having a state equalized value in excess of $102,555.

They contend a private trail in the city known as Herman Street is privately owned, has never been dedicated to the city or its predecessor, the Wayne County Road Commission, and is not a public road or highway.

They further contend they are users of the water and sewer systems and will sustain substantial injury and suffer loss and damage through increased charges as a consequence of the "authorized expenditure of funds from the water and sewer account for the maintenance of private ways in the city."

The suit also states that in the event such expenditure should be charged to the general fund, the plaintiffs will sustain substantial injury and suffer loss as taxpayers through increased taxation, since the tax has each year since city incorporation been increased.

The suit charges the city council "acted arbitrarily and capriciously, contrary to the advice of its own legal counsel, in ordering the expenditure of funds for the illegal improvement and maintenance of private properties."

Wilhelmi assumes post

Romulus housing director released

The director of the Romulus Public Housing Commission has been fired.

Mayor Hyle J. Carmichael, in confirming the dismissal of William Duncan as director of the housing commission, said, "It was the feeling of the commission that the directorship needed more attention than Duncan could give."

Duncan has been working for the city for about 19 months at a salary of $6,600. He worked for the city while employed as a full-time director of housing in River Rouge at a salary of $17,500 per year.

In July, Councilman Edmund W. Bizek requested the mayor to get rid of the housing director and find a replacement. Bizek charged the director didn't have ample time to spend in Romulus because of his full-time job in River Rouge. Other city council members echoed Bizek's charge.

At the time of Bizek's request to dismiss the director, the mayor said he was waiting for a legal opinion from the city attorney on the possibility of consolidating the city's housing and urban renewal departments, which would eliminate Duncan's job. The city housing commission is appointed by the mayor, and therefore, his

Voc-ed group needs help

The vocational education department of Huron Senior High School, New Boston, is seeking the help and cooperation of the business community in securing employment for high school juniors and seniors who have specific career objectives.

In providing employment and training for such students, the business community would be assisting in the development of productive economic citizens and workers, reports Roger Lelek of the high school teaching staff.

dismissal was up to the mayor.

Last Friday, Mayor Carmichael relieved Duncan of his duties following an earlier session with the full commission.

He announced that George Wilhelmi, director of the Romulus Urban Renewal Department, will assume the duties of Duncan along with his operation of the urban renewal department.

Romulus has 101 units in its public housing development.

Bizek had reported he recently toured the housing development with commission president Ernest Davis, who "pointed out the much-needed attention that has to be given to improve living conditions. The councilman charged the housing office had a stack of purchase orders for material and labor dated back to August, 1971, but "the housing director is doing nothing to help those tenants in the housing development."

Other council members had voiced criticism on living conditions in the housing development and had urged the housing commission to take action.

Abandoned cycle barn burns; arson suspected.

A barn which formerly housed a motorcycle club in Romulus was burned to the ground Tuesday night.

Wayne County Sheriff detectives say arson is definitely involved. This was the second incident at the 32146 Ecorse Road address in the last two weeks.

A farmhouse approximately 400 yards from the barn was bombed Aug. 15. The house was serving as the temporary headquarters of the Scorpion Club.

The property had been abandoned by the club after the house was condemned by the Romulus Building Department. However, Sheriff deputies report that there were at least two motorcycles in the barn at the time of the fire.

A sheriff patrol car first noticed the burning barn at 8:52 p.m. The Romulus Fire Department went to the scene but was unable to save the barn.

The Scorpions are believed to be involved in a feud with another motorcycle club, but no connections with this and the bombing and fire have yet been made.

The Scorpions had been renting the property from Gerald Strahan of 35725 Main St., Wayne.

BATTILING BARN FIRE — Firemen from the Romulus Fire Department battle a fire Wayne County Sheriff detectives believe was caused by arson. The fire broke out at 8:52 p.m. Tuesday night. Firemen were unable to save the structure. The barn is located behind a house which was bombed on Aug. 15. Both the barn and the house were serving as temporary headquarters for the Scorpion Motorcycle Club. The property was rented to the club by Gerald Strahan of 35725 Main St., Wayne.

MERE CHRISTIANITY

Jesus Christ is a good man, a model character (John 8:46), our Saviour (2 Tim. 1:10), the Son of God, equal in deity with his Father (John 1:1; 5:18, 23; 20:28), the Lord (2 Cor. 4:5) and Head of the church (Eph. 1:22-23).

Some regard Jesus as only a good man and deny that he can save and that he is divine. One might say they accept Jesus as a good man. But the truth is, they have not accepted Jesus at all.

Nor has the person who claims Jesus as his Saviour but denies his deity really accepted Jesus. And it is equally clear that those who "accept Jesus as their own personal Saviour" but do not let him rule in their lives as their Lord and Head have not really accepted Christ at all.

Jesus is the Saviour. But he is more. And one has not really accepted Jesus at all if he has not accepted him for all that he is.

MERE CHRISTIANITY is presented by the Christians who meet at 9426 S. Wayne Road in Romulus. Watch for it each week. Sunday services are at 10 (Bible study) and 11 A.M. and 6 P.M. Write for free BIBLE CORRESPONDENCE COURSE to Church of Christ, Box 155, Romulus, Michigan, 48174.

IF ANYTHING is more truly American than Fall Festival time in Plymouth, I surely can't think of it! This weekend, families will stroll in the little park, bands will play. Residents will turn out in full Regalia. Dinners will be served in the Town Square, and another Plymouth tradition, MINERVA'S DUNNINGS, at 500 Forest will dress their windows in shades of Autumn! Fall Wardrobes are "born" at Minerva's-Dunnings during Festival time as Minerva's takes a tip from nature, and puts out their most beautiful colors! Even Tiny Tots things, all in Name Brands of course, are as purple and bronze and hunter's-green this year as Mother's! Also, their all new Fabrics for right now Sewing, are the loveliest ever shown! And THIS is the time, definitely, to think WINTER COATS! It's NOW, during Fall Festival Days, that Minerva's-Dunnings has the very best stock of really beautiful things! They go so quickly, just as Festival time does. Come to Plymouth this weekend, enjoy the fun...and the things Minerva's has been saving, just for this special time!

FALL FESTIVAL & Grand Opening Time combine to make an interesting Weekend even more so as a gal we know (Mary Ann Anderson) welcomes her old friends, and everyone else who comes to the Festival, to her new creative Studio which is "MOSTLY Ceramics". The name tells the story, since people on the lookout for something interesting and rewarding to do are turning to mostly Ceramics! New Students are registering daily for how-to Classes, while others come in to purchase Greenware, Stains, Glazes, or to have Mary Ann "Fire" their completed work. Many are already working on their Christmas Gifts, others find that there is indeed reason for the growing national trend to relax and create. Adult Classes, from 9-1 and 7-10:30 Daily, enjoy a good attendance. (Wednesday eves reserved for Men only) Youngsters work Saturdays, from 10 till noon. Other Classes include CAKE DECORATING, the Class fee being really TOO small by comparison (if you're going to be baking this Winter, GRAB this bargain!), and a class in ACRYLIC TOLE PAINTING, by Carol Toole, who earned her art degree at Ohio U. Further information as to Classes & Hours may be had, at Mary Ann's Fall Festival Grand Opening of MOSTLY CERAMICS, at 673 S. Main St., in Plymouth... or by calling 453-7136.

A FESTIVAL OF COLOR, in fact a RIOT of Color and Ideas and Knowhow, awaits you in the "Old Town" district of Plymouth...when you go wandering during Fall Festival time and come (as Families always do) to OLD TOWN FLOOR COVERING, at 192 W. Liberty (off Starkweather). You'll see Tiles and Carpeting even Mother Nature can't outdo! Because Nobody can top Mr. and Mrs. Jay Newell when it comes to offering the things that bring Color and Happiness to your Home! There is absolutely nothing you can do to enhance your Home, you know, unless you begin with beautiful Floors. And to begin with beautiful floors, is to begin with Old Town Floor Covering. If you care about things like Price that beats large Chains (regular prices at Old Town are frequently advertised as "Specials" elsewhere!), Quality, GUARANTEED 2nd to none, Installation, the kind that puts your Floor Covering down to STAY...and Selection! Many places show a "bit" of this or that...then turn the Buyer to something they're pushing. Jay Newell asks you what YOU want. He has it there. If he doesn't, it hasn't been made...so help me, Fall Festival. (Which is a great time to come meet Jay, by the way!) Call 421-0990 for hours.

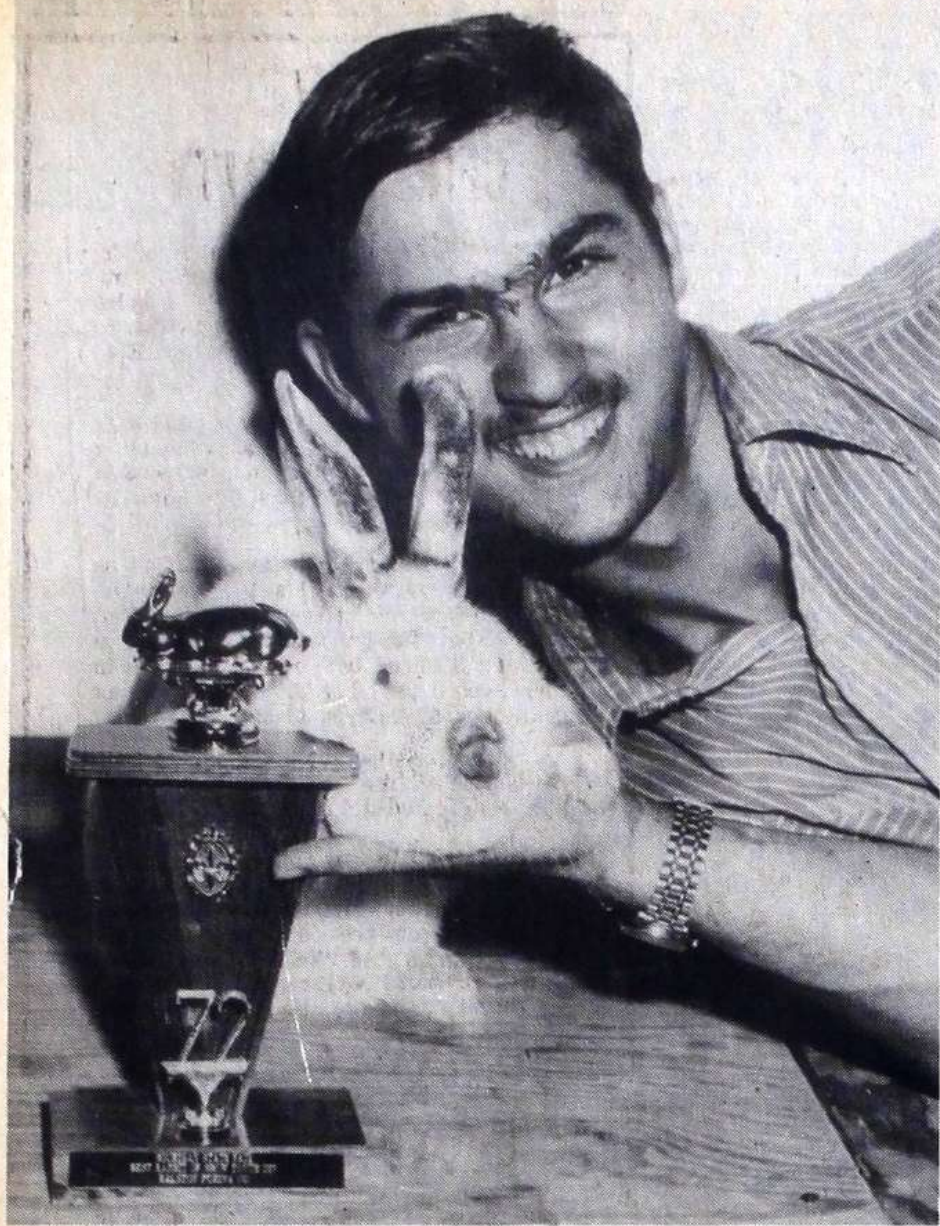

TALK OF HOME DECOR, and Festivals...reminds one of a "festival" of Furniture blurbs, telling the public openly that it's outright inconvenient to shop there! Our Readers, our treasured Friends, are NOT fools; this Column has never treated them as such. We tell something exactly as it is...and we don't pretend you can SAVE money by traveling extra distances. If you're Furniture Shopping, and this is the Season for it, we recommend NATIONAL UNCLAIMED FURNITURE SHOWROOMS, at any of the following MOST Convenient locations: 29855 Ford Rd., in Garden City, 31795 Groesbeck (M-97), bet. 13-14 Mi. Rds., 124 E. 14 Mile, nr. Oakland Mall, 1530 Pinegrove, in Port Huron. Here you will realize a TRUE, Honest Savings. National does NOT sell abused merchandise. Dealers sometimes place orders for furniture, then find they can't store it, or handle the order fundwise. It's then that National comes along to pick up savings which are passed on to you. Three other plans offer you still greater savings. See your nearby National Showrooms for REAL Furniture value. (NO fooling!)

TO DISCUSS DESIGN & COUTURE by Inge & Millie, is to discuss beautiful things with the very particular Woman...and also, with every Woman, since Inge & Millie can design for anyone in the World...and make her into a Very Special Woman! It is for this reason that their Fall Fashion Showings will incorporate the things they have gathered from across the U.S. this past Summer, and from Europe, where Inge ordered special Weaves and Fabrics, to be used only in her Custom Originals, which are available at MUCH less than you might imagine! You may see these things at their Studio (Fur Design & Couture by Inge & Millie, 2532 Five Mi. Rd., in Redford), and at a Nov. 15th Luncheon at Garrison House, in Westland. Reservations are going very quickly, however - so DO call the Salon, at 534-0610, and ask them to assure you of seating! Call there also, for an appointment to see the most exclusive designs and feminine ideas these jaded eyes have EVER seen. Paris Showings have NOT had more to offer - exclusive Stores in Metropolitan areas do NOT have anything as original - and, if you're really interested in seeing the loveliest Fashions in the world, come meet these talented people! By the way, if you've a Fur you're tired of, but don't want to replace just yet, ask them about RESTYLING! There's the Y-O-U no one ever dreamed could be, just waiting on their drawing board, DON'T miss it!

BUT DOES IT sometimes seem that ingenuity bordering on sheer genius could not possibly make you look just the way you "Wish" you could? You CAN, you know! Once Inge & Millie reawaken your desire to be beautiful...we can guarantee you the practical way to realize your fondest dreams! In fact, we'll mail you a free ticket to a bright future, in the form of a pass to PLAYGIRL FIGURE SALONS! If you're reading this paper, your nearest Playgirl Salons are at Telford Shopping Center, corner of Ford & Telegraph, in Drbn. Heights, and in the Drakeshire Shopping Center, corner of Drake & Grand River, in Farmington! The Free Trial Visit & Figure Analysis your Pass entitles you to, will prove that Figure Perfection is simple and effortless...and even great fun! You do NOT have a Figure "Problem" that the Playgirl Salons can't solve! For Free Trial Pass, call us at 477-6588.

AND WITH A NEW Figure...and new Fashions...you MAY just develop a new personality...and go in for such Gourmet Dishes as the late entry in our Danna Distributors "Brew Something Up" Contest! It came to us from Germaine Streilo, of Taylor, who brought the recipe back from Milano. It was so VERY good, we had to award a duplicate Prize! To go with your new way of life, here this: 1 & 1/4 cups Alst Beer. 1 & 1/3 Cups sifted all-purpose flour. 1 Tablespoon each, Olive Oil & snipped parsley. 1 teaspoon salt. 2 Tablespoons grated parmesan cheese. 2 each: beaten egg yolks, stiff-beaten whites. 1 each: small package frozen artichoke hearts, cooked & drained, medium zucchini, sliced, green pepper, cut in strips, small Cauliflower, broken into buds. (Beer must stand at room temp 45 minutes, til flat.) In mixing bowl, combine Cheese, flour, salt, garlic pdr., & parsley. Stir in yolks, oil & beer; beating til smooth. Fold in whites. Dip Vegetables in batter. Fry in 375 degrees fat, few at a time. They'll golden-brown in a few minutes. Drain on absorbent paper; serve. Nor did Germaine forget the popular GRAPE MALT DUCK & APPLE MALT DUCK in her treat! Having prepared this great batter with ALTES BEER...she then serves the delicious Vegetable Appetizers with BOTH Malt Ducks! Now you KNOW she's a SURE Winner, right?

WE BUY OUR RECIPES ingredients just where we purchase ALL our Groceries, at DANNY'S MARKETS. We started exciting Danny's Markets just a short while ago, and the response has been great! One Reader, however, was kind enough to let us know that she didn't take our advice...at first, that is! "There's another major chain closer to our home," writes this Lady. "I thought one was the same as the other, as long as I could shop at 10 p.m., so I went straight to the 'other one'. Was I disappointed! The produce was all put away. When I asked a young man to bring me some grapes, he said he wasn't sure he could. When I insisted, he told me they were all out of them. The sign, however, was on the window, it even said no limit!" One other Reader writes that she couldn't even get down the aisles of "another Market" at midnight. "The Stock Boys were taking their time, telling jokes, and generally having fun. Since I pay for my groceries, and that money covers their salaries, I thought they were killing time on MY budget!" Right you are, my dear. This is why we call Danny's a FULL SERVICE Market! These things just don't happen there. Everything is available to you at ALL times. You will be accommodated in every way possible. They're glad to have your business 24 hours a day, and make it easy for you to shop there! In fact, if you call us at 477-6588, we'll see that your name goes on the list for Raincoat specials good at 30221 Cherry Hill (at Henry Ruff), 3031 S. Telegraph, Dearborn; 25633 Warren (E. of Beech-Daly) in Drbn. Heights. Now, you'll enjoy your shopping!

Adult Education Week will be observed in the City of Romulus during the week of Sept. 11-16.

Mayor Hyle J. Carmichael, at the request of School Supt.

Robert L. McConeghy and Community-School Director William Smith, has issued a formal proclamation urging community-wide participation.

The mayor, in signing his proclamation Thursday, stated the proclamation's purpose is to draw attention to the many services and programs offered by the Romulus Community Schools in its adult education program.

Services held for Belleville boy

Funeral services for James Allen Murray, nine-year-old Belleville boy who was killed last Tuesday afternoon when he apparently ran out onto Haggerty Road in front of an oncoming car, were held Saturday morning at Baum Funeral Home in Romulus.

A Requiem High Mass was sung at St. Aloysius Catholic Church in Romulus at 10 a.m. Burial was in Our Lady of Hope Cemetery in Wyandotte.

James was pronounced dead on arrival at the Wayne County General Hospital at 1:40 p.m. Tuesday.

The driver of the car which struck the boy, Francis Michalski of 902 J. Street, Canton Mobile Village Park, told Wayne County Sheriff detectives he was driving north on Haggerty Road near the I-94 Expressway overpass when the boy ran out onto the roadway.

Michalski further stated he was driving between 30 and 35 miles per hour. He said he swerved to the left but hit the boy with the right front end of

Stewart denies agreement okay

Romulus Councilman James C. Stewart has announced a report that he approved an agreement placing certain restrictions on a proposed multiple dwelling development in Romulus were inaccurate.

The proposed development is slated for construction on a 34-acre parcel located on the north side of Ecorse Road between Henry Ruff and South Wayne roads.

The agreement approved, which embraces all the demands requested by members of the city council, is with the G.E. Wash Construction Co. of Detroit and the James D. Klingbeil & Co.

of Columbus, Ohio, owners and developers of the proposed Cambridge Station West.

At the special council meeting held Aug. 25, only five members of the council were present. All voted unanimously for the agreement. Councilmen Stewart and William M. Oakley were absent and did not vote.

Published reports stated the council approved the agreement unanimously.

Stewart, who opposes multiple dwelling developments in R-1A (single-family residential) areas, claimed the report of council's unanimous action included him, which was inaccurate.

Entry submitted

A Romulus resident has submitted entries for the "Needlepoint and Crewel Exhibit" to be held at the Meadow Brook Hall, located on the campus of Oakland University, Rochester, on Sept. 12-14.

She is Mrs. Leo C. Kline of 17466 Middlebelt Rd., Romulus. Exhibit tickets, which include a tour of the 100-room Tudor mansion, will be sold at the door.

This special event is to raise funds for the maintenance of the hall, one of America's great houses.

Romulus man critical after shotgun blast

An early morning argument led to the shooting of a Romulus man Tuesday.

Wayne County Sheriff deputies report Terrance Scott, 21, of 11066 Delano Road, Romulus, was wounded by a shotgun blast to the lower groin region.

The blast was fired by 61-year old Burl Chadwick of 11090 Delano.

Wayne County detectives report that Chadwick allegedly found Scott stripping parts off his automobile at about 4 a.m. Chadwick grabbed his shotgun and went out to stop the thefts, according to the report.

Scott's brother, Marvin, 28, apparently heard the ensuing argument and came from his house with a baseball bat and together the two advanced on Chadwick.

At this time, Chadwick fired on the younger Scott.

Chadwick was released pending further investigation by the Sheriff Department.

Scott is reported in critical condition in the intensive care unit at Wayne County General Hospital in Westland.

Trailer bids sought

Bid proposals for the purchase of a 25-yard capacity dump trailer with dual tandem axle have been requested by the Romulus City Council.

The vehicle, to be used by the Romulus Department of Public Works (DPW), must have a seven-foot high tailgate opening.

The deadline for the submission of bid proposals at the Romulus City Clerk's office, 11111 S. Wayne Rd., is Sept. 26.

What if property taxes were eliminated?

By JOANNA FIRESTONE

LANSING — Gov. William G. Milliken and his MEA maudraders have stormed the bastille to free landowners from slavery through taxation.

But the aftertaste of liberation is not as sweet as the first bite.

The state's voters, by means of initiative petition, will decide whether the main support of public schools will remain with the community or be transferred to a common state pot.

And Milliken, who is pushing for a new formula of school support in order to initiate educational reform, has gracefully waltzed by the question of just how that $1.118 billion lost on property taxes would be recouped.

Ther more clear-eyed skeptics estimate that the rate of the state personal income tax could jump from 3.9 to 10 per cent.

Combined with federal and city taxes, this would mean a near 50 per cent tax bite out of every weekly paycheck.

Abolition of the property tax, a heralded hero in the foxholes of the taxpayers rebellion, is just one battalion in the governor's master plan for educational reform.

Milliken, who teamed with Atty. Gen. Frank J. Kelley, is also seeking to have the property tax declared unconstitutional, arguing that it discriminates against poor children because their school tax base is inferior.

The Michigan Education Association (MEA), fighting to keep teacher salaries up while taxpayers continue to vote down operating millages, rationed that Milliken's plan for state control of education was the only way to achieve educational reform while protecting its members' jobs and paychecks.

The MEA pragmatically jumped on Milliken's bandwagon and is credited with bringing success to the governor's petition drive to place the property tax reform question on the November ballot.

Along with that petition, the MEA circulated a second petition which would lift the state's ban on a graduated income tax.

If a graduated tax were used to replace the $1.118 billion, the rates would span the 2-14 per cent range, as opposed to the 7-10 per cent flat rate tax proposed by Milliken.

Milliken's organization has hit the "freedom from property tax" drum hard, while skirting the income tax hike issue. And in reality, not all property taxes will be abolished.

The governor's plan would reduce the maximum property tax from 50 to 26 mills, dividing what is left, 8 mills, for the counties, 1.5 mills for the townships, leaving 6 mills for extra voted projects.

It will also guarantee 4.5 mills to be divided among vocational, compensatory and special education and intermediate school districts, plus up to 6 mills for extra voted enrichment of school programs.

The package would mean a savings of $518 million in individual property taxes and $500 million in business tax relief.

Nobody is actually going to rend a great savings, however, but the governor isn't telling that version of the story.

Thus the outcome of the November vote is difficult to predict.

Much depends on the educational campaign waged by the package's opponents, namely state Democrats.

Super-taxed property owners could, on the one hand, choose to free themselves from the property tax at any cost — including an astronomical personal income tax.

On the other hand, however, anti-busing sentiments and the neighborhood school euphanism could well linger into the fall, with parents voting in favor of retaining the property tax in order to maintain the quality and control of their community's schools.

To accept board's offer would be sell-out

To the editor:

Salary is not, nor ever will be, the only and most important issue of negotiations between the Romulus Education Association (REA) and the Romulus Board of Education. To make the statement that it is, as a board representative recently has, is a distortion of the truth.

What then is the truth?

The board's negotiating representative has never offered movement on any of the REA proposals aimed at ridding the Romulus Community School System of some of its biggest threats to the total educational environment.

As a result, these proposals, one by one, have been left alone, undiscussed, but never completely dropped from negotiations.

In one last-minute attempt to settle the contract, the possibility of working with what amounted to last year's contract and a cost of living pay increase was discussed. The board was not willing to accept this. They proposed further refinement in language that would ultimately discourage experienced teachers from applying for and accepting new teaching positions in Romulus schools.

The maternity clause proposed by the board is illegal and discriminatory. The REA will not accept language in the contract that has been proven illegal in the courts.

The board's negotiating representative has not offered any movement on REA proposals for class size. The board's position is that this has never been a problem in the past, so no change is necessary.

However, this contract applies to the future, and in the future you will see increased enrollment in Romulus schools. Presently, the board does not have major building plans in effect and these students will be placed in existing classroom.

Romulus teachers have agreed to return to work without a contract in view of the controversial proposals the board representative has advocated during negotiations.

Teachers feel they would be selling out themselves, the community and education in all of Wayne County if they agreed to accept the vagueness of the board offer.

Local 4-H fair is 'most successful'

To the editor:

One of the most successful 4-H Fairs in history was recently completed at the Wayne County 4-H Fairgrounds near Belleville, and the Associated Newspapers are commended for coverage and photos which are most helpful in voluntary undertakings of this type.

The open pet show was an outstanding success as indicated by pictures published in the issue of Aug. 23. Participation by the children was heartwarming, for in the minds of kids every entry is a champion.

The grand champion award went to Bonnie Bramer and her Great Dane, the longest-eared dog was shown by Karen MacDermid, and the noisiest dog award went to a white poodle owned by Dean Hayward. The poodle just wouldn't quit yelling.

The grand trophy was donated by Mr. and Mrs. Walter Cox, owners of Elkins Kennels, located at 15803 Hoeft Rd., Belleville, who annually contribute invaluable time and enthusiasm to the success of the pet show.

Mrs. Edna Turner, Elaine Cox and Jackie Renier gave outstanding assistance.

Move under way to vote on 'no-fault'

The legislature returned yesterday to begin tackling what promises to be a busy fall session, but there will have to be a brief delay.

The initial meeting will be a short one, then the legislature will have to recess for two weeks. The delay of the fall session is beyond the control of the legislature.

Contractors who are shoring up the spectator balconies in both houses after they were found to be unsafe have informed legislative leaders that the work, scheduled for competition by today (Wednesday), will be delayed because of late delivery of steel beams.

When the two houses reconvene later in the month, the Senate, in all probability,

By Edward E. Mahalak
State Representative
38th District

will be able to occupy its renovated quarters. The house, however, may have to use some temporary location because its chambers may not be ready for occupancy. There are a number of important items awaiting action this fall, including no-fault auto insurance and transportation package.

By BYRON K. ANTCLIFF Superintendent of Huron School District

said to be "overly permissive." If they turn down the request, they are failing to meet the needs of the students.

If they pay people too little money, they are criticized for losing the person to another district. If they pay a larger amount, they are accused of wild spending.

Some people want to know why they don't do things like everyone else does. Others want to know why they don't do it differently.

If they settle a labor contract they are told they agreed to pay too much. If they don't settle they are scolded as being big meanies.

Ah, yes, life is not easy for the modern school board member.

Just what is the answer? While the fellow was wrong about which times are the ones that try men's souls, one guy hit it right on the head with the solution to the problem — "United We Stand, Divided We Fall." Or to put it another way, "We must all hang together or surely we will all hang separately."

Another opinion

Entire state needs mass transit funds

Even a quick look must convince any interested person that mass transportation in Michigan is in a bad way. Several of the state's larger cities are without bus systems. Grand Rapids' bus service is tottering and its future is heavily clouded.

Detroit's mass transit system has been in deep trouble, and debt, almost as long as we can remember. Every member of the Michigan Legislature is aware of the situation. But a bill to do something about it has been languishing in the Senate Highways Committee since last February, when the House passed it.

The bill, introduced at the instigation of Gov. William Milliken and consistently advocated by him, calls for increasing the state's gas tax by 2 cents and earmarking one-quarter of the increase for urban transit systems.

We never have regarded this measure as a conclusive or long-range solution to the problem but have endorsed it as being at least a beginning on the state's part. The problem that bears directly on the economic survival of many Michigan cities. The highway lobby, however, sees it not as a beginning but as an end.

That is the only possible interpretation to be placed on the proposal which highway interests now appear willing to accept. The proposition in question calls for writing into the bill a provision stipulating that the urban transit systems' share of the gas tax will be permanently fixed at 1/2-cent, or one-quarter of the proposed increase.

It would be as reasonable and far-sighted to set a permanent ceiling on the gas tax as it would be to accept the proposed limit on the amount that might be diverted to urban transit. There is nothing permanent in the world — and that goes double for taxes of all kinds and the purposes to which they should be put. Michigan ought not to put straight-jacket by setting a limit, and a miserably low one at that, on the proportion of road funds it could use to help move the state's millions to their destinations.

How the problem of moving those millions might best be solved is still a matter for debate. We are certain of only one thing — that carry only one of two persons is not the answer. It is grossly wasteful, contributes heavily to the death toll in transportation, and gravely aggravates the problem of air pollution. And it is far too expensive for a great many persons.

What Michigan needs, basically, is an overall transportation plan, something that no one in authority has yet submitted. But diverting part of the gas tax to mass transit could prove a starting point and even provide an incentive for putting together such a plan.

It may be propitious for the governor to accept the so-called compromise under which the 1/2-cent would be earmarked for urban transit, but the bill should not contain any wording that would suggest that this was all that needed to be done — and the inclusion of a provision to put a permanent limit of a half-cent on urban transit's share would do just that.

The safety valve

Question: In California, traffic must stop for pedestrians. Would it be feasible to have the same law in Michigan? K.C., Lansing

Answer: Michigan pedestrian control laws at crosswalks defining right-of-way are specifically aimed at those crosswalks at intersections, as opposed to the California practice of granting pedestrians right-of-way at other properly marked crosswalks.

Even the Uniform Vehicle Code, a model national set of traffic regulations, while favoring the California concept, still adds a paragraph which states that even in those legal crosswalks where pedestrians do have the right-of-way that the pedestrian must not dash out so quickly as to constitute a hazard.

For answers about every day traffic related problems, write Michigan Traffic Safety Information Council; care of Michigan State Safety Commission; Department of State Police; East Lansing, Mich. 48823. The Safety Valve will try to answer all inquiries, however, all will not be printed.

Question: Why do they tell you in driver training it is necessary to use the 10 and 2 steering position? (Relating the steering wheel to the face of a clock, putting your hands in those same positions as those numerals appear on the clock.) C.H., DeWitt hands-on-wheel steering position is the most comfortable position. In addition, it provides for the best control of the vehicle. A sudden emergency may require immediate maneuvering to avoid road hazards or other traffic, such as a pedestrian suddenly appearing or another vehicle interfering with your planned course.

Answer: Driver education professionals say that the 10-2

Speaking of schools

'REALLY trying times!'

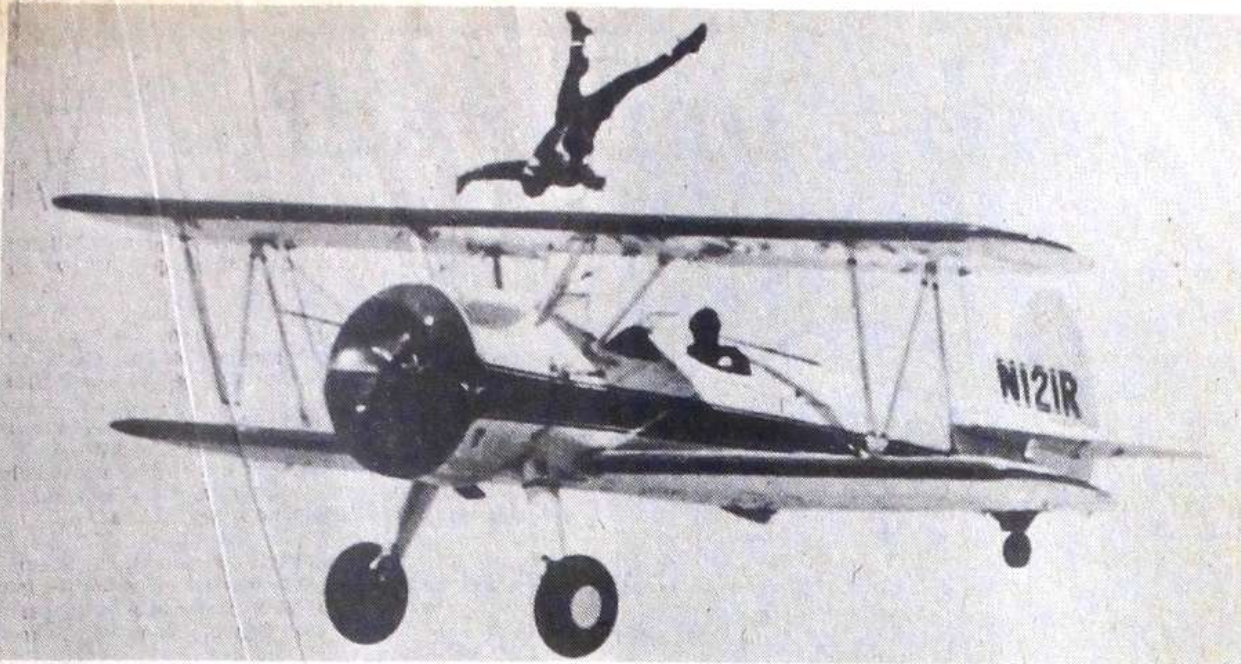

Whoever said "These are the times that try men's souls" years ago didn't know what he was talking about. These times are in first place by a wide margin. The choices today are so complicated and the population so different that no choice can possibly please more than just part of the people.

A good example of this problem can be seen in the plight of the local school board member.

If the district maintains a small cash balance, he is accused of being wasteful for having to borrow money. If the board maintains a large balance in order to avoid cash flow problems, he is accused by the teachers of not giving them what the district can afford to give. If it has neither a deficit or a large balance, the board member is accused of hiding something.

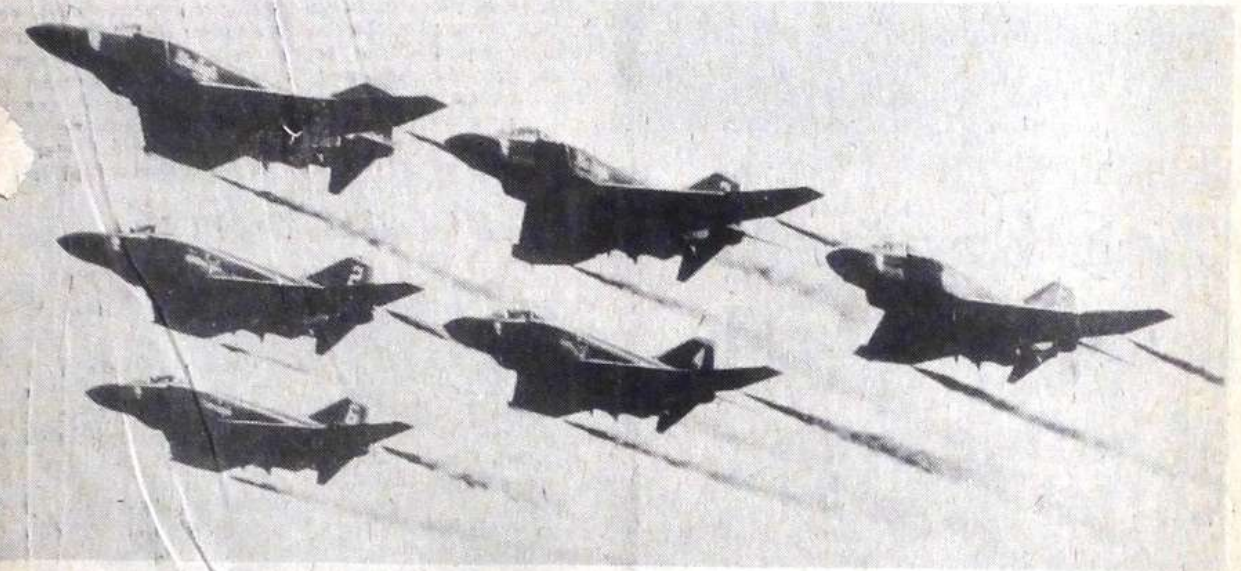

If the board is asking for millage and the members fail to tell what cuts will be necessary, the members are accused of "failure to communicate." If they relate the program reductions they are accused of threatening the public.

If the board authorizes a smoking lounge for students, it is

State's blaze total up

New high recorded for deaths from fire

Michigan in 1971 had a record total of 101,730 fires which claimed a new high of 352 deaths and did an estimated $110 million in property damage, according to the State Police fire marshal division annual summary.

The deaths included 264 adults and 88 children but no firemen. Not included in the count were 42 fatalities in fires that followed car (34) and plane (8) crashes. The previous state fire death record was 324 in 1967.

The fire total was up about 1,300 from the previous high of 100,358 in 1969. The total was 88,643 for 1970.

The 1971 damage total was down about $4 million from the record $114 million set in 1970. This loss included $60.9 million in buildings, $37.2 million in contents, and $12.3 million involving cars, boats, aircraft, unhusked machinery, grass and woodland fires.

There were 76 large loss fires (more than $50,000) with damage totaling $18.9 million. Arson was listed as cause in 13 with $3.2 million in damage. Though arson was suspected in some, there were 18 large loss fires with $6.5 million in damage where cause was not determinable. Arson fires caused 13 deaths in 1971.

The fire breakdown included grass and brush, 30,017, dwellings, 23,058, autos, 15,212, house trailers, 982, schools, 741, dry cleaning plants, 170, aircraft, 125, and bulk storage plants, 50.

Total alarms answered numbered 133,540, of which 31,810 were reported to be false.

Bombings and bomb threats reported by the state's 906 fire departments totaled 1,108. This included 332 fire bombings, 22 other bombings and 754 bomb threats.

The summary section on arson statistics showed 5,515 fires with $12.6 million in property damage. The breakdown listed 1,022 fires for profit, 20 involving civil disorder, 334 resulting from pyromania and 4,139 with miscellaneous motives.

The Michigan per capita fire loss for 1971 was $12.46, based on a 1971 census of 8,875,083 for the state. This loss was down slightly from $13.07 in 1970.

Carelessness again caused most fires, 23,468. These included rubbish burning, 10,193, and carelessness in smoking and in the use of matches, 7,040.

Dwelling fires caused most deaths. Home fires (including trailers and apartments) accounted for 192 of the 264 adult deaths and for 81 of the 88 minors.

Smoking in bed and other careless smoking was listed as the leading cause of adult deaths with 87.

Careless smoking, clothing catching fire and carelessness in the use of flammable liquids continue as the prime causes involving adult deaths. Defective heating units and playing with fire are still leading causes of children deaths.

They are: Mrs. Mary Viger, president; Mrs. Sparol Dapkus, vice-president; Mrs. Joan Glinski, treasurer; Mrs. Betty Ploce, corresponding secretary; and Mrs. Sharon Haener, secretary.

The new members welcomed at the guild's first meeting of the year, which was held on Aug. 23, were Mrs. Dorothy Beil, Mrs. Marie Sidum, Mrs. Carol Jackson, Mrs. Nancy Haener and Mrs. Carol Quigley.

It was announced that Sister

Mary Maristella, new school principal, will present the school's faculty to parents of students attending the parish school this year on Sept. 27 at 7:30 p.m. Refreshments will be served.

The guild will conduct hot dog sales on the first and third Thursday of the month at the school's hot lunch period. The first hot dog sale will be on Sept. 21.

A rummage sale will be held on Sept. 29 and 30 in the white building behind the church from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. both days.

When Johnny Taylor said "No more wrinkles in my shirts"...

his wife bought a Gas dryer

The kind with a permanent press cycle.

But what Johnny and his wife discovered was that the permanent press cycle on their new Gas dryer saves them Gas and money, too. You see, it operates without Gas during the last 10 minutes (just fresh fluffing air, to make sure the wrinkles won't set). Saving Mrs. Taylor a lot of ironing.

With so many permanent press items in use today, you should consider replacing your old dryer with a modern Gas dryer with the permanent press cycle. You can see them at Gas appliance dealers or Michigan Consolidated Gas Company showrooms.

But, whether your dryer is old or new, here is how you can increase its operating efficiency:

1. Follow manufacturer's instructions on proper operation.
2. Keep the dryer's lint filter clean.
3. Avoid over-drying your clothing.
4. Keep the dryer's flue clear of lint accumulations.

Emersons travel to Kansas to meet new granddaughter

By MRS. JOSEPH SPRING
OX 9-4021

Mr. and Mrs. Justin Emerson of Madelon St. returned home on Saturday of last week from Manhattan, Kansas, where they had spent a week with their son and wife, Captain and Mrs. Sam Emerson, and their two children, two-year-old, Matthew, and six-months old Sarah. Captain Sam is stationed at Fort Riley. This was the first time the Emersons had seen their first granddaughter.

Mr. and Mrs. Max Richards of Belleville Rd., Mrs. Fred Warblow and daughter, Joy, of Van Born Rd., returned home August 23, from St. Charles, Minnesota, where they attended the wedding of their grandson, David Richards, to Karen Persons on Saturday, August 19, at the Bible Church in St. Charles. The bridegroom's father, Rev. Donald Richards, performed the marriage service, assisted by the bride's father, Rev. C. Myron Persons. The groom's brothers, along with his six-year-old brother, Dennis, who was ring bearer, were members of the wedding party. The reception was held in the Church parlor following the ceremony.

The newlyweds will make their home in Kansas City, Kansas. The rehearsal dinner was hosted by the groom's parents.

Enroute home the Richards family visited Duluth, crossed into Ontario, followed the northern shore of Lake Superior, and came home through the Soo and Northern Michigan.

Mr. and Mrs. Winston Turner, Jane, John, Janice, and James of Santa Rosa, California, have been guests this past week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R.G. Atyeo, of Church St. They left for home last Friday.

Robbe Moore of Birmingham spent last weekend with his grandmother, Mrs. George W. Moore, of Hannan Rd.

Recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Miller of Second St. were their grandson and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Marc Miller, and small daughter, Dana, of Camp Hill, Pennsylvania.

Mrs. Leon Nierzchewski of Wilmington, Delaware, was a dinner guest last Wednesday of her niece and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Welt, of Willis Rd.

Mr. and Mrs. Guy Ransom have returned to their home on W. Huron River Dr. after having enjoyed a month's vacation at Gilbert Lake, Wild Rose, Wisconsin.

Friends from Flint, Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Verhaeghe, and family were dinner guests on Sunday of last week of the George C. Wilson family of E. Huron River Dr.

Mrs. Charles Nanasy of Perry, spent last week Thursday with her aunt, Mrs. Muriel Smith, of Liberty St.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Woods of Belleville Rd. have returned from Nashville, Manchester, and Murfreesboro, Tennessee, after having spent the past 10 days visiting relatives.

Last week Friday Mrs. D.W. Ross of Liberty St. spent the day with Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Lutz and family of Fowlerville. Mrs. Lutz will be remembered here as the daughter of the late Orville and Lora Ford Dingman.

The same day Mrs. Muriel Smith visited her brother, Cecil Benjamin, and family in Fowlerville. The occasion was special, as her niece, Lt. Janet Kay Benjamin, who had just graduated from Finance School in Indiana, was home on leave before reporting to Fort Riley, Kansas.

The Robert Jones family of Dayton, Ohio, recently spent part of their vacation with Mrs. Jones' parents, the George Hafis, of Church St.

Mrs. Joseph Spring of Liberty St. spent several days last week camping at Tawas Point with the Spring and Dennison families of Plymouth.

Mr. and Mrs. Justin Emerson of Madelon St. were guests over the Labor Day week-end of friends, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cooper, of Whitehall.

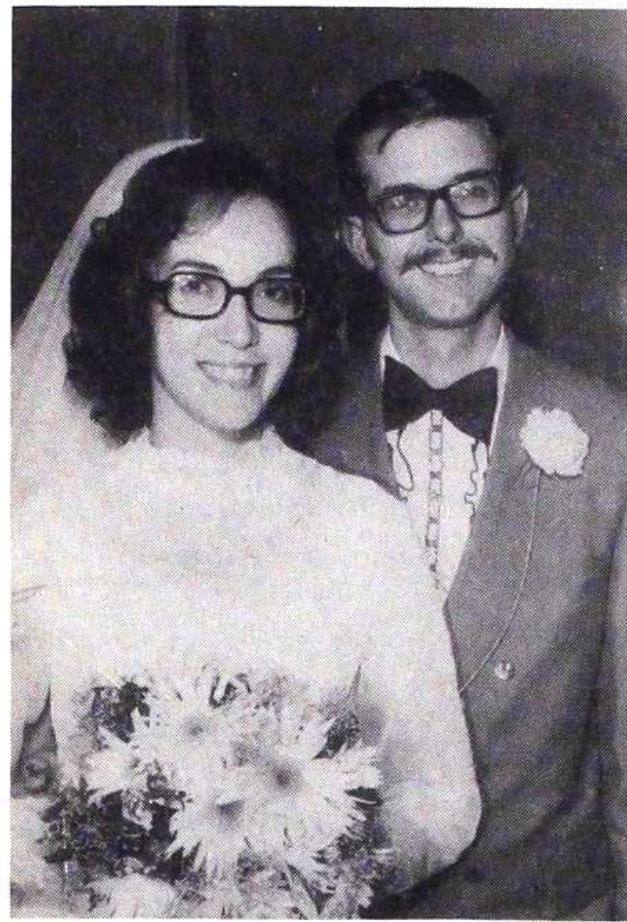

Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Saunders of Liberty St. enjoyed dinner last Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Saunders of East Detroit; also a boat trip on the Clinton River to Lake St. Clair. Enroute home they called on their son Lynn and wife at Frazer.

Home from a two weeks trailing trip are Mr. and Mrs. Harold Clayton of Bedell St. They spent some time at Lake City where they visited the Lewis Lesters; then went on to Traverse City where they saw the Jim Mason family; and camped at Cadillac and Harrison before returning home.

Mrs. Howard Moser of San Antonio, Texas, Mrs. Donald Hoag and daughter Linda of Jackson, Karen Hoag of Ann Arbor, and Mrs. Frank Hoag of Liberty St. have returned home after spending 10 days at the Seventh Day Adventist Camp Meeting at Grand Lodge.

Mrs. Evelyn Miller with sons, Preston and Kelly, of Camp Hill, Pa., were callers at the Norman Miller home on Second St. on Tuesday of last week. They were on their way to Oxnard, Calif., to visit Mrs. Miller's mother and sister. They also plan to make their future home in California.

MR. AND MRS. RALPH P. SCHMUCKAL, JR.

Chris Kaminski is summer bride of Saline man

Christine V. Kaminski of Romulus chose St. John's Catholic Church in Ypsilanti for her recent wedding to Ralph P. Schmuckal, Jr. of Saline. The seven thirty ceremony was attended by some 125 friends and relatives.

Father Paul Desch came from Duns Scotus Seminary at Southfield to officiate the double ring vows. For the occasion, the altar was appointed with yellow pom poms, white and yellow shasta daisies and white gladiolas. Music was provided by Mrs. Carol Zakrzewski, guitarist, and sister Mary O'Connell, vocalist.

THE BRIDE is the daughter of Mrs. Michael Kaminski of Romulus and the late Mr. Kaminski. The senior Ralph Schmuckals of Saline are parents of the bridegroom.

Chris carried a circular bouquet of white shasta daisies and babies breath as she approached her waiting bridegroom. For her marriage, she chose a floor-length creation of white silk organza with a re-embroidered lace bodice and appliques frosting the full-length sleeves, the skirt and the cathedral-length train.

The fingertip veil of silk illusion, which completed her ensemble, was caught to a cap of re-embroidered lace.

Attending the bride were Shirley Morton of Saline as maid of honor and Mrs. James Groat of Ypsilanti as bridesmaid. Their gowns, in toe-touching length, featured white daisies on a yellow background with white collars and cuffs and green grosgrain ribbon tracing the empire waistlines. Bouquets of white and yellow daisies complimented their frocks.

ANTHONY MENSEN of Detroit served as best man for his cousin while James Groat of Ypsilanti, a fraternity brother, was usher.

For the happy occasion, the bride's mother donned a pink silk organza dress with white embroidery trim and a corsage of white carnations and pink rosebuds. Mrs. Schmuckal, the bridegroom's mother, wore pink carnations and red rosebuds pinned to the shoulder of her champagne beige linen and lace gown. Following their reception at the Frontier Beef Buffet in Ann Arbor, the newlyweds departed for a two weeks honeymoon in the mountains of Kentucky, South Carolina, Tennessee, and the Virginias. On their return, they took up residence in Pittsfield Township near Ann Arbor. Currently employed by the Detroit Free Press, the bride was graduated from Romulus High School in 1965 and from Eastern Michigan University in 1969.

Her husband, a 1965 alumnus of Brother Rice High School in Birmingham, earned his bachelor's degree in business administration at E.M.U. in 1969 and his masters in marketing there in 1972. An affiliate of Alpha Kappa Psi Professional Fraternity, he is also a member of the Jaycees and the Michigan National Guard and is employed in Ann Arbor at John Hancock Mutual Life Insurance Company.

A THOUGHT TO REMEMBER

BY HAROLD REDISKE, DIRECTOR

Do you ever wonder why our most deserving minority group have such few spokesmen and sponsors? Every middle aged man and woman are prime prospects for early induction in this minority group - whether they like it or not. This minority group is composed of our elderly people, often referred to as "senior citizens." Only occasionally do you hear a voice speaking up in their behalf.

Regardless of capacities and capabilities, these people are being "put to pasture" in mandatory and shameful fashion. Lots of them deserve preferential consideration for continued employment but rarely receive even equal rights. This represents a horrible waste of valuable manpower. More importantly, it is disgraceful from a moral viewpoint to deny people with vigor, ability and know-how - the right to work. These same people are urged to take advantage of our superb facilities to increase their life span. What good does it do to add years to life without adding zestful, useful life to the years? Why is it not realized that age, in terms of years, should be a boon, not a bust, for those who have what it takes and are able to deliver?

Coffeecake 'n the 'big show'

Watching television is a favorite pastime of millions of Americans, and one relaxing way for your family to enjoy their favorite programs is with a tasty snack.

Festive Coffeecake is a light cake made with a new special ingredient - Post Pink Panther Flakes. This new cereal is colorful and crisp pink frosted corn flakes that not only taste good but are fortified with 8 essential vitamins. Make up a snack tray of Festive Coffeecake, some of your favorite fresh fruit and a cup of coffee (or milk for the kids). Since it is a light cake, the family will ask for seconds or thirds.

Then turn on your set, relax, and enjoy the family's favorite programs with your lovely coffeecake snack. The kids will certainly enjoy it as a breakaway from the cookie syndrome, and you'll find it great to have on hand any time of the day.

Festive Coffeecake

- 2 cups all-purpose biscuit mix
- 3 tablespoons sugar
- 2-3 cup water
- 1 egg
- 1 cup pink frosted corn flakes
- 1 teaspoon sugar
- 1/4 teaspoon cinnamon

Blend biscuit mix with 3 tablespoons sugar, the water, and egg. Stir in cereal. Pour batter into greased 8-inch square pan. Combine 1 teaspoon sugar and the cinnamon. Sprinkle over batter in pan. Bake at 400 degrees for 20 minutes. Serve warm or cooled.

T.V. SNACKIN' TIME — Get your family ready for its favorite TV programs with a light snack. Fill each tray with several pieces of delicious coffeecake made with new pink frosted corn flakes, then add some fresh fruit and a cup of coffee or glass of milk. The kids will enjoy it as a break-away from the cookie syndrome. And, of course, it's always great at breakfast time. (Courtesy Pink Panther Flakes.)

Develop your child's interest in reading early with storytime

Would you like to do something for your preschool child that will be enjoyable for both of you?

Why not read to him, suggests Jeanne Brown, child development specialist at Michigan State University.

Children enjoy having stories read to them, and a daily reading time can become a special time for parents and children to get together and explore new worlds found in books.

It can also sow the seed for a lifelong interest in reading, Mrs. Brown notes.

Start your story time with a trip to the library, she suggests. A librarian can help you locate the books best suited to your child's age and interest level.

Helping to select and check out the books to be taken home gives a child a sense of responsibility and accomplishment, too, she adds.

Of course, picking out the book is only half the job. Reading it to the child so that the story comes alive is the major task, and parents can often profit by attending the story hours offered by many libraries. Not only will you come aware of appropriate books, but you can pick up valuable storytelling techniques.

Mrs. Brown suggests the following:

—Familiarize yourself with the story before you try to read it to the child. If necessary, read it aloud once or twice to get a feel for the language.

—Read a story with illustrations. Your preschooler cannot read, but he likes to follow the story line by looking at the pictures.

—Read more slowly than you ordinarily speak to the child so that he can keep up with you and follow the illustrations. And pronounce words distinctly. Story time should contribute to the child's development of listening and language skills.

—Be interested and enthusiastic about the story you are reading — even if you have been through it dozens of times before. You may be bored, but to a child, a favorite story grows even dearer as it is repeated.

—Be dramatic! Change your voice to differentiate between the various characters in a story. Sometimes the sheer number of characters in a book will make this impossible, of course, but a low, gruff voice contrasted with a high, squeaky one will add interest to the story and an extra dimension to the characters.

—But don't be a performer. Relax and enjoy yourself as you read and make the reading session a warm, positive, sharing time, not a one-man show.

—After you've finished a story, talk about it with the child. Encourage him to tell you how he felt about a character or something that happened, or ask him why he thinks a certain character acted as he did.

These techniques, says Mrs. Brown, combined with genuine interest and concern on the part of the parent, should contribute to the major objective of story time: to teach children to like and appreciate stories.

Californians announce son's birth

From San Marcos, California comes word of the birth of a son to Mr. and Mrs. William C. Rounsifer. The 6 lb.-12 1/2 oz. infant arrived August 13 at Tri-City Hospital in Oceanside and was titled William Charles, Jr. The new mother is the former Susan Daye of Vista, California.

The baby is the third grandchild for former Bellevillites, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Rounsifer, Jr. of Willis, and the great-grandson of the senior Walter Rounsifers of Snover, also formerly of this area.

MR. AND MRS. FRED COLEMAN

Romulus teachers exchange vows in Garden City

Two Romulus High School teachers, Gail Anne Matthews and Fred Coleman, were united in marriage August 18 at the City Hall in Garden City. Theirs was the first marriage to be performed by Mayor James W. Lowe under a new legal ruling.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Matthews of Dover Street, Garden City, and the bridegroom the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Coleman of Portage.

For the informal ceremony, Miss Matthews wore a dress designed with a white nylon bodice and skirt in pastel print. The print motif was also used on the high collar where an heirloom cameo pin accented the V-notched neckline. Her accessories were in white and she held a bouquet of white carnations and roses.

BARBARA VERNOR, as her sister's only attendant, donned a blue ensemble and wore a corsage of coral-colored roses.

The bride's brother, Harold Matthews, Jr., served as best man.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Matthews chose an aqua lace and nylon dress to which she added her corsage of coral-colored roses. The bridegroom's mother chose a dress of white and lavender polyester for the occasion. Her corsage was comprised of yellow roses.

The wedding dinner was held at Metro Inn immediately after the ceremony with the wedding cake being served later at the Matthews' home in Garden City.

The newlyweds departed by plane for San Francisco and planned to motor through California before resuming their duties at Romulus High.

The new Mrs. Coleman is a graduate of Garden City West High School and Eastern Michigan University. An alumnus of Central Michigan University, the bridegroom was affiliated with Phi Sigma Epsilon.

Advice on canning tomatoes clarified

Tomatoes will be coming in soon, and many home canners are confused by the conflicting recommendations for canning the new "low-acid" tomatoes.

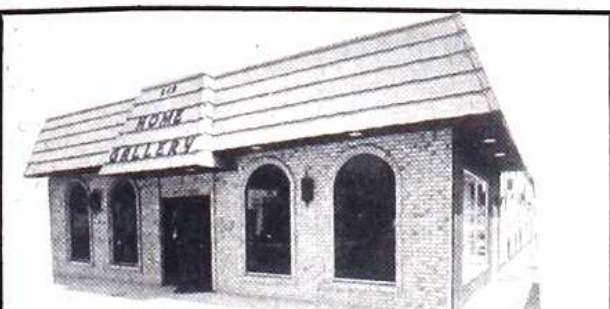

It has recently been recommended that low-acid tomatoes be hot packed and processed in a pressure canner at five pounds pressure, pints for 10 minutes, quarts for 15.

Anita Dean, foods and nutrition specialist at Michigan State University, advises that the hot pack combined with hot water bath processing for 20 minutes should prevent spoilage of home-canned tomatoes.

The type of spoilage that may occur in low-acid tomatoes is flat sour spoilage, she explains. This spoilage is not toxic. In fact, she notes, some people cannot even detect it.

She reminds homemakers to discard any home-canned tomatoes or tomato juice showing signs of spoilage — off odors, signs of fermentation, mold growth, etc. — to prevent them from being consumed by humans or pets

Lundes return from Europe

MR. AND MRS. Fred C. Lunde flew to Germany via Kennedy Airport August 12 to visit their grandchildren, Lieutenant and Mrs. John T. Hayes and their baby son, a new great-grandchild for Fred and Ina.

Landing in Germany, they took off by rented car for Austria, Italy and then Liechtenstein where they saw many beautiful castles, most of which are now museums. In Switzerland, they enjoyed throwing snowballs while 9,000 feet up in the Alps.

They just touched the border of France while enroute to Holland where they visited Aalsmeer, Europe's largest wholesale flower center, and couldn't believe the thousands of flowers they saw being shipped to points all over the world. Before moving on to the North Sea and Rotterdam (the largest seaport in Europe) they enjoyed seeing the miniature of Holland.

The next two points of interest were Brussels, Belgium and then Luxembourg before their return to Germany where they motored about the countryside before jetting back to home soil August 26.

Families entertained over holiday

THE LABOR DAY week-end was chosen by the Roger Allens as the time to host the family corn roast and picnic dinner. With both Roger's and Aileen's relatives invited, the group numbered somewhere near 20.

Coming in from around the State were the Gerald McCormacks from Bay City; Rodney and Carol Allin and sons, Jeff, Brad and Kent, from Adrian; Larry and Norma McClure with daughter, Wendy, and son, Mark, from Redford; Mr. and Mrs. Howard Dietz of Livonia; Eddie and Sharon Dietz of Mt. Pleasant; and Paul Dietz of Detroit and his fiancée, Christy McGowan, of Benton Harbor.

Getting married? Tell us about it

Want to share that 'special day' with those who are unable to be present, in person, for your wedding ceremony? We'll write the details of your wedding in story form for you — and at no charge — if you'll simply follow a few guidelines.

The Belleville Enterprise and Romulus Roman offer bridal questionnaires for you to fill out as well as engagement forms for announcing the 'start of it all.'

Forms may be picked up at our office, 405 Main Street, (we're in the old Township Hall now) anytime during the week or will be mailed out if a telephone request is made. Call the Women's Editor at 697-9191.

U-M offers three courses in real estate

Novices and professionals in real estate are being offered three courses by the University of Michigan statewide Real Estate program this fall.

The programs will be conducted in the Dearborn area. Novices in real estate or those interested in qualifying as real estate salesmen are invited to enroll in "Real Estate Business I", a required course in the University of Michigan statewide Real Estate Program.

The course will be offered in four sections. Each section is a complete course, meeting four nights per week, Monday through Thursday, for 11 sessions. Section I will meet Sept. 11-27, Section II Oct. 2-18, Section III Oct. 30 - Nov. 15 and Section IV Dec. 4-20. All classes will be held at the Crestwood High School, 1501 North Beech-Daly Rd., just south of Ford Road, Dearborn Heights.

Students may register at the classroom before the first session or in advance at the office of the Western Wayne-Oakland County Board of Realtors, 11677 Beech-Daly Road, just north of Plymouth Road, Redford Township.

Real Estate Appraisal II includes instruction in setting up appraisals for income producing properties with an emphasis on applications of the income approach to the valuation problems of multiple family, commercial, and industrial properties.

Real Estate Appraisal II will be taught by Realtor James C. Holmes, MAI, Birmingham, on each Thursday, beginning Sept. 14, for 11 weeks from 7 to 10 p.m.

Both courses will be held at The University of Michigan- Dearborn, 4901 Evergreen Rd. Students may register at the classroom before the first session or through the Dearborn center of the U-M Extension Service, U-M Dearborn.

CARROLL RIGHTER'S
horoscope

Tomorrow's forecast
from the Carroll Righter Institute

General tendencies: A confusing day which is made more difficult because of your eagerness to obtain precise information. Incorrect statements from others could take awhile to replace with actual facts and figures. Use as much time as you can getting your health in excellent condition.

Aries (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) You can easily improve conditions around you so regular duties are easier to perform and avoid serious mistakes. Study your wardrobe and see what new garments will be needed.

Taurus (Apr. 20 to May 20) A good day to be at your very best before you keep an important appointment. Make plans for recreation you want later in the day. Be sure business matters are in order. Be wise.

Gemini (May 21 to June 21) Show more affection at home and avoid a possible argument. You are puzzled by a new situation, but don't reach any definite conclusions without further study. Time is on your side.

Moon Children (June 22 to July 21) Make sure not to leave your purse or wallet where others could possibly steal it. Don't irk a good friend who is troubled now. Postpone making definite decisions at this time.

Leo (July 22 to Aug. 21) Monetary matters should not be changed now since there is a cloud over them. Tomorrow will be a much better time to act. A conversation with experts can be most helpful. Relax tonight.

Virgo (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Spend some time analyzing what your aims are and how to gain them quickly and easily. Show that you are an intelligent person. Make others understand you are vital and dynamic.

Libra (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Home is your best place of endeavor now although you want to get into the world of business. Don't bring up an old argument at home or there could be dire results. Be poised.

Scorpio (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) One in ill humor could give you a bad time, if you permit, so avoid this person. A new aim you have is not ready to be pursued yet. Study all details carefully.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Think how you can expand in the days ahead instead of working so hard on an unimportant activity. A higher-up is not in good mood. Avoid this person or you could be disappointed.

Capricorn (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Study a new change you want to make or plan a trip you want to make in the future. A new friend can give you ideas and suggestions that are not wise so forget them. Be courteous.

Aquarius (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Take care of those responsibilities you have instead of trying to escape from them, since you would only make matters worse later on. You now can come to a far better understanding with mate.

Pisces (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Although you may not agree with others, this is not a good day to argue or you could get into trouble. A civic matter needs study. Plan to take care of it as quickly as you can.

If your child is born today he or she will be one of those fascinating young people who has fine dreams for a brilliant future. Teach to study the practical aspects of any situation so that true facts will be understood and your youngster will not be laboring under any delusions. This is a fine chart for personnel work, property improvement, human relations, community work, and the like. Send to right schools.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to you.

COME BLOW YOUR HORN—SSgt. James M. Schiebene, of Milwaukee, Wis., has just utilized his bass bugle to give Ron Haares, 15, a resident of Perry, and his championship herford steer, Jon-Jon, a rude awakening in the dairy barn at the Michigan State Fair during the opening weekend. SSgt. Schiebene, a member of the crack U.S. Air Force Drum and Bugle Corps, and Ron, rewarded for his cattle-raising efforts, represent the twin entertainment and agricultural aspects of the State Fair which offers something for everyone. The fair, which includes two more weekends, will conclude its 17-day run on Sept. 10.

'Opera' needs support

ASPEN, Colo. (AP) — People have been going around this mountain resort town asking some pretty strange questions lately. What is Old Billy's secret? Is young Dr. Malone going to marry Felicia? Will Lance and Eleanor get the money?

Sound like a soap opera? It is, produced in all its sudsy glory on a shoestring by the community television station's Grass-Roots Network.

Called the Edge of Ajax after an 11,212-foot ski peak that borders the town in one side, the unsensational melodrama lasted eight episodes this summer. By then its all-volunteer cast and crew was exhausted from the 40-hour plus weeks spent taping each 15-minute segment.

City Councilman Ross Griffin, who had acting experience in college and has appeared in some local musicals, was drafted to suffer as Mark Malone, a fast-rising medical man and chief suitor of the heroine.

Housewife Maura Eggen played Felicia Wheeler, named after the town's Wheeler Opera House. In the plot she was raised from infancy by the town jailer after a miner found her abandoned on a dogsled high on a snowy mountain pass. In her 30s she returns to Aspen, struggling to unravel the mystery shrouding her origins.

Mrs. Eggen's house became a popular set for the series, increasingly so when it was discovered her refrigerator was open to raiding between takes.

Super private eye Snoop Jackson, ferreting out the crooks from his not-so-private office — a bench and pay phone outside City Hall — was in reality architect Robin Molney, the head of Aspen's Planning and Zoning Commission.

It really was conceived as a spoof soap opera, said Smith, incorporating local controversies, people and places and involving the community's 2,200 cable TV subscribers and other Aspenites by soliciting their plot suggestions. The idea also was to garner more financial support for the fledgling Grass-Roots Network.

Institute's Concert Series offers variety

The 1972-73 Concert Series presented by the Detroit Institute of Arts is literally a "World Series" of music with seven outstanding events drawn from Paris, Jerusalem, New York, Tel Aviv, Belgrade, Warsaw and Salzburg.

The seven Detroit premieres by international artists were arranged by impresario Edith J. Freeman for the 17th concert season in the museum auditorium. Each will be presented on Friday evening at 8:30 p.m.

and dance airs — the popular music of the Middle Ages and Renaissance.

The Yuval Trio from Jerusalem on Nov. 10 brings Jonathan Zak, piano; Uri Pianka, violin, and Simca Heled, cello, for their first Detroit appearance and their second North American tour. The string players are respectively concertmaster and first cellist of the Israel Philharmonic based in Tel-Aviv.

The New York Chamber

Soloists perform George Frederick Handel's serenata, "Acis and Galatea," on Dec. 1. Their presentation, like Handel's original in 1718, uses five voices and eight instruments for a lighthearted tale of shepherds and shepherdesses in an idyllic world.

A complete brochure on the Concert Series is available at the Art Institute. Information may also be obtained by telephoning 831-4678 or 831-0360.

Barbra featured

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Barbra Streisand will star in "The Way We Are," scheduled to be filmed this summer with Sidney Pollack directing.

The story is about an unlikely love and marriage of two intensely appealing people with totally different life styles.

Library begins fall film series

The Romulus Public Library will begin the fall series of Saturday programs this Saturday with two movies, "Tales of Hiawatha" and "Wind in the Willows."

The movies will be shown at 10 a.m. and 11 a.m. Other programs planned for September include the Order of the Arrow Dancers and a songfest.

On Sept. 27-30, the library will sponsor an art exhibition. Local artists are invited to submit two examples of their work for the display on either Monday, Sept. 25, or Tuesday, Sept. 26.

Display easels will have to be supplied by the artist, if they are needed, and the artist assumes risk for his work. No work will be sold during the exhibition.

Calendar available

What does Good Old Fashioned Days Festival have in common with the Detroit Lions — an Old Car Festival with a major thoroughbred race — or, for that matter, the Detroit Symphony with Cat Stevens?

They're all special events included in the September-October Calendar Of Events published by Southeast Michigan Travel and Tourist Association in cooperation with the City of Detroit.

The calendar features more than 120 special events in the two-month period, with a general listing of regular daily scheduled events.

THE REAL HOLIDAY (it you number among those who said "Let's do something different for the Holiday") is YET to come! So put a BIG Red Circle around Sunday, Sept. 10th, the day we're going to meet at CENTAUR FARMS STABLES, on Drake Rd., (just S. of Walnut Lake Rd. and W. of Orchard Lake Rd.) Now read along for a moment, because I want to urge you also to visit Centaur Farm Villages down the road from "The Stables", to really see Countryside living as you have always imagined it COULD be. Then come back to Centaur Farm Stables, let the sorals visit the horses... and prepare to spend the afternoon, BECAUSE: Sunday, Sept. 10th, at 2 P.M., everybody who can get in... EVERYBODY... who knows Music, will be there for the ANDY MOSES JAZZ CONCERT!! Nothin' in a will ever sound the same again; in true Jazz - nothing ever does. Therefore, at NO other time will you be able to capture the same sound and feeling. This means bring your Tape Recorder! If I knew exactly what to promise you... I couldn't promise you true classical Jazz. I DO promise you an unforgettable afternoon. If you know names like Jimmy Noone, Albert Nicholas, Raymond Burke, Irving Fazola... you'll know Andy Moses when he steps up to the mike, beloved horn in hand. The Centaur Farms Stables Restaurant will serve as usual... but this is the ONLY thing that will be as "usual". Come the Jazz Concert, next Sunday. See you THERE.

AND OTHER TIMES, there is a gentle Dining... the thrill of wrapping your mind in Listening... flickering candles... tasteful Art... Sounds and Tastes that draw the curtains on the world outside, and mellow your every feeling. On Tuesday through Saturday a Gentleman named PAT FLOWERS brings his keyboard to life at THE DANISH INN (32305 Grand River, in Farmington) and all these things begin to be. Pat's from my time... and what time it is! He attended the old Cass Tech (with the smart kids!), then went on to Juilliard in N.Y., before he came home. Oh, he wandered awhile. He took time to become a famous recording star; to win plaudits at Cafe Society... Ruben Bleu... Las Vegas Clubs. And someone said, recently, that Nat "King" Cole was great, but Nat thought Pat sang it better. I couldn't argue with that. Pat belongs to his Music... and his music belongs to the world. Now, World, don't all come at once to The Danish Inn... because I'd give it I couldn't get in, and I'd outright start a revolution if I had a miss my (Dick Bensek, that is) Viking Sword! Very fortunately... there's enough of Pat's Music, and Dick's Cooking... for us all.

HERE'S TO FUN & GAMES, and the world need never lack for 'em again... now that Vocalist ROBB FRITZ, Organist DOUG BROOKS and Drummer LOWERY DAY have formed a group named just that: FUN AND GAMES!! The three, each outstanding in his own right, have a background in Entertainment which places them in the biggest Clubs around... and even across the waters! They've recorded commercially, worked in the Studios... and also have the distinction of being to the manor born: Lowery, for instance, is a 3rd generation Drummer. His Grandfather played in the pits for the old silent flicks... his Father was with Tommy Dorsey... and we hear tell his Son, hard as taller than a stick... does a mean Partridge! Doug Brooks has more than a dozen years in the business by his credit and Robb Fritz holds the room with his lissenable ways. Basically "Gentle Rock" by inclination, these guys can and DO play ALL the music in the world, to the Audience's delight. SOOO: It's FUN & GAMES Time, at THE COW SHED, tucked away in the corner of the TelFord Shopping Plaza, at Telegraph & Ford Rd., in Dearborn Heights! Listening & Dancing are from 9:2, except Sundays, the serve-yourself Salad Bar opens for Lunch, and to borrow a phrase from SONNY CRISS, it's "Simply Crisshus", which is my buddy's slang for Crisp 'n Delicious... till 11... and even THAT isn't the whole story! They can park 1,000 Cars... they can feed as many people... and handsome Host "Mac" McCausland and the "FUN & GAMES" can make em ALL jump for joy!!

NOW YOU-KNOW-HUGH Gedrich has gotta be a LOT more Wyld than he is Idyl... but no matter how you mixidup, the good old IDYL WYLD GOLF CLUB has n-e-v-e-r been this great BEFORE! "Wyld" is getting to be the loudest word in Livonia, nowadays, as everyone fights to play straight through, in order to get a table inside, where something's ALWAYS happenin! Hugh's favorite happening, of course, was Sept. 26th when he gained a beautiful "Dolly", as Dolly Clark became Mrs. Hugh Gedrich... but being Hugh Gedrich, the Master Party Giver didn't run off Honey-moonin' without mapping out a fun "course" for us other Pros! When the PWP's not dancing around, the Jaycee Women are Banquetin'... or the Lamplighter Lions are Dining... or Hank & Skip, "THE TONKY HONKS", are inspiring the Singalongs & Skips. BUT my favorite Party is who throng there nite to join the fun. BUT my favorite Party is gonna be a Monday, Oct. 9th COLUMBUS DAY BLAST in honor of you-know-who: CAP PATRIC! Yeh, the story goes that when (my noble Ancestor) old Chris set sail (Golf Clubs 'n All)... he was lookin' for a place called IDYL WYLD GOLF CLUB, at 35780 Five Mi. Rd. (between Farmington & Levan). He knew it was open to the public. And he was thinkin' in the round. And there ain't NO "squares" at IDYLWYLD's every nite Singalongs!

IT WAS A GREEK Philosopher who said a little cooking is good, for it unsettles the meat's mind and prepares it for new ideas... but it was a GREEK GOD, name of Frank Skrumbellos who cooked it SO good for a party we attended last week... that it unsettled MY mind! The party, it was the Birthday of Andy's garage (Nah I'm not gonna say it again. You read it again.) and everybody who was anybody was there. And people fell on their knees and begged to know WHERE they could taste this miracle again. I said "Why this very Beef is the kind Frank & Lu serve for their Friday Luncheon Special at THE GOLDEN COIN, 1870 S. Wayne Rd., in Westland!!" And I said "Get up off your knees, for goodness sake! You'll need 'em for dancing, because Friday & Saturday THE CELEBRATION" takes place in the form of a three-piece Combo... the kind Frank had in mind when we stood together once, and he said "... and the dance floor's gonna be right there!" Meaning, I knew this place before it was born. And I was NEVER surprised to know that they turned out the BEST Roast Beef (which is only part of what they serve till 1 a.m.)... or that they boast the smoothest DANCE FLOOR... or that they mix GREAT drinks. The only thing that WOULD surprise me, would be to hear that you haven't been there yet! WHY in the world not? DON'T waste another minute! You know, they say this is where Margie & Wilma learned HOW!

SO NOW SHE'S A POET. She paddles across the pool to me and bubbles, "The good old days, if the truth were told... were all so good 'cause we weren't so old." "OKAY!" I holler! "Everybody outta the pool!" It was notime atall we were at THE COLONIAL LOUNGE, 19170 Farmington Rd., in Livonia. In the 2nd place, you can go as you are. In the 3rd place, she brought her Mother... and the sight of her Mother in a bathing suit... will really help a guy lifttassle. But in the 1st PLACE, I had only been floatin around looking for something "different" to do, when this all started! AND The Colonial Lounge is not only different every way there is... it's MORE so, now that Phil Esser uses his Sundaze to dream up new daddies... and MIKE & BARBARA SMITH take over the entertainin! Days when I come home and she's s-we-e-t, I know she snuck over from the new Shopping Center (across the Street) to the Businessmen's Lunch. Days when she's not so sweet... I take her there as soon as I DO get home. Now I gotta new gimmick. On Sunday, I sulk around the pool... till my frill takes ME to The Colonial! So who cares about the good old days? What's happenin NOW is there... TONIGHT!

WALTER & JOYCE SPARKS were recalling the fellow who used to be an Organist... but then, his music died. But their friend Bob Markley, they claim, has forestalled such sad events at his famous BEAU-J'S LOUNGE, on Inkster - south of Schoolcraft (Redford-Livonia borderline), by bringing in people who when they talk about music... you know they LIVE for it! These people are known as "THE FRIENDS"... and there could be NO other kinda people than Friends at Beau-J's, honest! (Even when I asked Diane Johnson about her be-casted foot and she said, "Diane ever get desperate for a table at the Beau's"... I knew it! Diane ever get desperate for a table at the Beau's! I standup crowds (except for Diane, I guess)... who don't complain a bit! The Music makes you forget you're waiting for a table... the food makes you glad you DID! And if Walter & Joyce aren't still there telling tunes, those very same guys, by golly: THE FRIENDS, will make you sign while you're dancin' and laugh while you're waitin! Queue up!

THIS'S THE WAY I end my days... with VICTOR'S! You see, Victor's is open forever... kinda like my appetite. I can sit here all day, forgetting what Food is all about. Then the last Column goes out... and I remember Victor's, and Breakfast, that someone mentioned 12 hours ago. But nevermind... Vic is still serving it. OR I can be just cruising around, trying to remember what inspiration tastes like... and, right in the middle of the night, get inspired about Vic's place. Or I can maybe (if I don't look out) bump into h-e-r, after an evening of celebratin'. "Why can't you be like other Guys" she moans from under the ice pack, "and never take me anywhere?" There again, I take her to VICTOR'S, at 34410 Ford Rd., in Westland. It's a NO-liquor, come-visit-the-family type of place that serves everything, all the time. And she tastes his wakeup Coffee... and she knows I care. Oh, sure! You're reading this right NOW. But I wrote it after midnight! So while your paper was being delivered... we were already at VICTOR'S, ordering. Beatcha again! But that's how I find out about all the GOOD stuff in time to clue you. Hey, c'mon over and get your share. (Sure, bring the kids too.)

Can Democrats rekindle that 'old gray magic'?

GRAND RAPIDS -- Michigan Democrats are striving to rekindle that old gray magic of yesteryear that will eradicate President Nixon and all the other dark angels of politics in 1972.

They arranged those tight, brave little grins of a people challenging adversity at their state convention here.

Present and past leadership of the party that has all but perpetually ruled state politics since 1954 expressed confidence that they can fight off the Republicans despite Nixon's pluses in November if:

-- The emotional factors of the busing issue can be de-fused and the pre-convention Wallace defectors return to the Democratic fold.

-- Democratic Presidential candidate George McGovern can convincingly clarify his economic, foreign policy and busing positions to eliminate some of the radicalism that Republicans consider a plus for themselves.

-- The old formula works, that traditionally scrapping Democrats patch up their family quarrels during the campaign and march together to the polls Nov. 7.

National Democrats nominated Sen. George McGovern in Miami Beach in mid-July and the state party met here two days after Republicans went there to give Nixon his shot at a second term.

The mood of the Democrats in Miami Beach was one of pent-up energy. They were looking for direction to win in November. Republicans were benignly confident that Nixon is a shoo-in.

News analysis

By DON HOENSELL
Lansing Bureau

And with Nixon 26 percentage points ahead in the polls and the Democrats in disarray following the dumping of Sen. Eagleton as vice-presidential nominee and McGovern's evident problem of identification, Republicans had the better argument going in.

"Sure McGovern could win in Michigan," said Democratic State Chairman James McNeely. "Would he win right now? No, but I think he'll win in November and he'll carry Michigan."

Democrats recover fast from their self-inflicted wounds, he said. In 1968, the early polls showed Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace would take 27 per cent of the Michigan vote. He actually won 10 per cent.

McNeely was cool toward taking a party stand on busing to achieve racial balance in the schools and wanted to leave the issue to the individual candidates who might fight advantage in either pro or con.

"What the convention might say might not be binding," he said.

The economy will be a big issue in Michigan, where 10.7 per cent of the working force is jobless, McNeely believes, and it is working against Nixon and the Republicans.

He sees evidence that Nixon and U.S. Sen. Robert P. Griffin, seeking to beat off the challenge of Democratic Atty. Gen. Frank J. Kelley, are trying to make busing the big issue in Michigan.

But the fact that Kelley is emerging as the anti-busing champion in the federal courts, that the U. S. District Court of Appeals in Cincinnati has ruled out busing this fall, that the Griffin-Kelley race is considered neck and neck in the polls at this early stage -- all are encouraging to McNeely and the Democrats.

McNeely's vice-chairman, Kenneth Hylton, a Detroit lawyer, agreed that de-fusing the busing issue and stressing the economic problem are the two major elements in the campaign. He added:

"But we've got a hell of a job ahead of us," he said. "Still the only thing I think we might lose is the presidential election. We'll keep our majorities in congress and most everything else."

"This guy (McGovern) is going to surprise a lot of people. They disagree with him philosophically in some areas, but he articulates his position. There is no doubt where he stands."

"Former State Chairman Neil Staebler of Ann Arbor, the architect of the Democratic resurgence in the early 1950's, sees the old magic working even now.

"We have a good party, a great interest," he said. "We as Democrats fight very hard among ourselves but we always get together. We'll close that (Nixon-McGovern) gap by election time."

National Committee Chairman Coleman Young said Nixon's special attention to Michigan as the second stop on his campaign even before most Republican leaders left Miami Beach is an indicator.

"The fact that Nixon came here early and knows he's got a scrap on his hands here is enough to encourage us," he said. "We're only just now in the process of putting together our campaign."

"They (Republicans) have got to catch us in Michigan, baby. The Republicans know that."

Just as Republicans in Miami Beach -- with their candidates pre-ordained -- had to concentrate on building enthusiasm, Michigan Democrats here, too, had to get the troops marching.

And try to reactivate that old gray magic -- gray and not black because it has been recycled and used every two years for a generation. By this time it's only part black magic.

The rest is strategy and energy that Democrats have learned is almost as important.

Romulus raises lunch prices

By HENRY CANTIN

Students attending the Romulus Community Schools will be paying more for school lunches during the 1972-73 school year.

The Romulus Board of Education approved an increase of five cents over prices charged during the 1971-72 school year, School Supt. Robert L. McConeghy announced. The board took action at a special meeting held last Monday.

The price increase involves lunches and ala-carte items. The price of Type A lunch (complete meal) in the elementary school will be 35 cents. At the Romulus Junior High School, the price of the Type A lunches will be 45 cents and at the Romulus Senior High School it will be 50 cents.

At the Merriman Elementary School, the price of the package lunch furnished by Mass Feeding Corp. will remain at 45 cents.

The board of education and school administrators also announced the adoption of a revised policy statement for lunches for Romulus school children unable to pay the full price.

The policy statement specifies the following size and income scale guidelines to assist in determining eligibility.

Family Size	Scale for Free Meals	Scale for Reduced Price Meals
1	$ 0 - 2,450	$ 2,451 - 2,770
2	0 - 3,200	3,201 - 3,630
3	0 - 3,960	3,961 - 4,490
4	0 - 4,720	4,721 - 5,340
5	0 - 5,420	5,421 - 6,140
6	0 - 6,130	6,131 - 6,960
7	0 - 6,760	6,761 - 7,640
8	0 - 7,400	7,401 - 8,360
9	0 - 7,970	7,971 - 9,000
10	0 - 8,540	8,541 - 9,660
11	0 - 9,120	9,121 - 10,300*
12	0 9,700	9,701 - 10,960
	575*	650*

*Each additional family member.

Families falling within these scales or those suffering from unusual circumstances or hardships are urged to apply for free or reduced price meals for their children.

They must do so by filling in the application forms sent home in a letter to parents. Additional copies are available at the principal's office in each school.

Applications may be submitted any time during the school year. The form itself is simple to complete and requests information needed to determine economic need based on income and number of persons in the family, number of children attending school or pre-school, and any unusual circumstance or hardships which affect the family's ability to pay for school meals.

The information provided on the application will be kept confidential and will be used for the purpose of determining eligibility, McConeghy said.

In order to safeguard their identity, children receiving free or reduced price meals will be treated in the same manner as full paying students.

Further assurance is given that children eligible for a free or reduced price meal shall not be required to work for their meal, use a separate dining room, go through a separate serving line, enter a dining room or serving line through a separate entrance, eat meals at a different time, or eat a different meal than sold to children paying the full price.

Under the provisions of the policy, the principal will review applications and determine eligibility. If a parent is dissatisfied with the ruling of the local official, he may make a request for a hearing to appeal the decision.

McConeghy has been designated as the hearing officer. Hearing procedures are outlined in the policy.

A complete copy of the new policy is on file in each school and in the office of the assistant superintendent for maintenance and operation, where it may be reviewed by any interested patron.

School officials urge eligible parents to have their child or children participate in the lunch program, since it is to their benefit to eat well-balanced meals each day.

Zepp: his Tiger comet crashed

By TOM MOORADIAN
Sports Editor

Seventy days is not a long span in a man's life, but ex-Detroit Tiger hurler Bill Zepp lived many a lifetime during that period.

For 70 days last year he wore a Detroit Tiger uniform and had everything going for him as a major league pitcher. But the soaring comet he rode suddenly crashed and the professional world of baseball, for him, is now in the past and a hunk of memories.

"It's all over for me," said the 27-year-old sandy-haired right-hander. "The doctors say I have what they call a 'problem elbow,' that the tendon in the elbow has separated from the bone and even if they operate it's doubtful that I could ever pitch again."

Zepp, who had won nine and lost four in 1970 as a member of the Minnesota Twins, was acquired by Detroit in March of 1971 for infielder Mike Adams and pitcher Art Clifford.

As a member of the Twins' starting rotation, Zepp displayed "an outstanding curve and a good fastball," which never materialized a year later in Detroit.

After a dull performance in Detroit, Manager Billy Martin shipped Zepp to Toledo "to find himself." However, in his second game at Toledo, Zepp found "it difficult and painful to throw the ball."

"I really can't say when the injury occurred," he reminisced. "I go back in my mind and say it happened when I threw this curve or did this, but then I'm not sure but I now know it's a chronic thing."

"And it's all over for me."

Zepp harbours no bitterness towards anyone. He has accepted what Fate has stored upon him with no animosity. "I wanted to be traded and I was and I consider myself fortunate in many ways," he said.

Zepp explained: "I have something to go back to. I got my education and am employed at the Chrysler Corporation." (Zepp had taken a leave of absence from the corporation and will shortly return.)

A 1963 graduate of Redford High School (Detroit), Zepp preferred to continue his education at the University of Michigan rather than play in the Minor Leagues.

He was drafted by the Milwaukee Braves in 1965, but he didn't sign. In 1966, the Tigers tried to get the young 6-foot-2, 185-pound pitcher to sign a contract but again he refused, preferring to finish his education. Then in 1967 it was the Boston Red Sox turn - and they couldn't lure the education-conscious player to come with them.

Meanwhile Zepp continued to play for the Wolverines and became more confident with each season.

In 1967 he was graduated from U of M with a Bachelor of Arts in Business Administration. The next year he picked up his masters.

"After getting my education, I now wanted a chance to see if I could make it in the big leagues," related Zepp. "I was a free agent and I talked to several scouts who had watched me during my prep and college careers and finally Frank Francki got me the opportunity with Minnesota."

The rest is now history. Zepp's career came to a pre-mature end.

Married to Cheryl, the Zepps make their home in Westland.

What has Zepp to offer to those young star-gazers in the form of advice? "Don't put all of your eggs in one basket," says Zepp. "By that I mean make sure you have something to fall back on if something goes wrong, like it did with me. My cushion is education and I'm fortunate I decided to finish my schooling."

"Now that I know I won't be able to play baseball, I can look ahead to do other things thanks to my education."

All in a day's work:

Try, if you will, to gather, type and hand over to the advertising department all the 1972 football schedules for the area high school teams, the major universities in the state and the Detroit Lions.

Mission accomplished.

Hardy sees perfect season

Romulus defense still excels

By TOM MOORADIAN
Sports Editor

Romulus decided on a housecleaning operation after veteran Coach George Pratt finished the 1971 season with a 4-5 won-lost record and stepping into the head coaching job is ex-University of Michigan griddier, Bill Hardy.

Hardy served as one of Pratt's assistants and the 27-year-old rookie head coach isn't talking about rebuilding - he's set his sights on an undefeated season for 1972.

"I believe and the kids also do that we can go undefeated this year," said Hardy, "it's a matter of a break here and there and, of course, we have to stay away from injuries."

Hardy realizes that if he and the team are going to reach their goal there is a lot of work ahead of them.

"Just let me make this clear," he points out, "I'm not playing down any of our opponents. We have a tough schedule. But we have the potential on this team to win and that's what we are out to do."

Virgil Smith, a returning quarterback, should be as effective as ever. He handled the club well last year but his premier target, end Ken McNann, has graduated and Hardy must come up with someone to handle Smith's passes.

The Eagles running game should also be powerful as Jerry McWhorter will be back at fullback.

However, Romulus' defense last year was the strongest it's been in many a season and the

Enterprise-Roman Sports

Wednesday, September 6, 1972

Eagles should even improve in this department as Marvin Williams, a middle guard who flattened 146-ball-carriers last year returns as does linebacker Daryl Gooden, a solid 205-pound, 6-foot-1, senior. Also giving muscle to the defense will be 300-pounder, 5-foot-11 Henry Reid.

The awe-inspiring defense also boasts Mike Hunter who is considered a top-notch candidate for one of the other linebacking jobs.

Roy Hollis, Rudy Williams and Hubert Miller are other names prep fans will hear of the next nine weeks. Rodney Kersey, Horace Persons, Tony Davis and Les Davis, names that dotted the cage roster, are also prospective starters in football.

But the new head coach is pleased for another reason: "It's our over-all attitude this year that's really good. It's tremendous and there's dedication and the kids are eager."

"This is why I can't settle for a .500 season," says Hardy, "we can reach our mark."

will have any effect on our season."

Romulus will begin its nine-game schedule on Friday, Sept. 15. The Eagles will host Inkster, a member of the Mid-Wayne Conference in a game that will begin at 3:30.

The Eagle will hit the road the following Saturday, clashing with Detroit Thursday at 1:30 p.m.

FOOTBALL SPECIAL NEXT WEEK

PP&K sign-up starts

Registration for the 1972 Punt, Pass, and Kick (PP&K) competition is being held between now and September 29 at all Ford dealerships.

The competition, which is for boys between the ages of 8 and 13, is sponsored in Michigan by Ford dealers and the Detroit Lions.

There is no entry fee for the PP&K contest, in which the youngsters compete against others their own age.

The purpose of the competition is to see which boy can best combine distance and accuracy in punting, passing, and place kicking a football.

Each Ford dealer will sponsor a contest on September 30, with the winners in each group moving on to higher levels of competition.

After two other levels of competition the age group champions for Michigan and northwestern Ohio will be decided on November 5 during halftime of the Detroit Lions-Chicago Bears game at Tiger Stadium.

The six winners of the November 5 competition will represent the Lions at the Divisional competition in San Francisco on December 16. A total of 72 representatives of the 12 other National Football Conference teams will also be present.

The 78 top representatives of the 13 American Conference teams will compete in San Diego on December 17.

The six winners from each divisional competition will compete for the national championships on January 21, 1973 at the Pro Bowl in Dallas.

All Punt, Pass, and Kick participants will receive a free booklet featuring playing tips from Dallas Cowboy quarterback Roger Staubach, punting tips from Dave Lewis of the Cincinnati Bengals, and place kicking tips from Garo Yepremian of the Cincinnati Bengals.

Romulus JCs set golf date

The Romulus Jaycee Golf Open will be held at Shady Hollow Golf Course located on S. Wayne Road at the corner of Wick Road on Sept. 13.

The open golf event will begin at 7 a.m. and continue until 10 p.m. Tickets which cover the entire day of outing including golf fees, beverage, food and prizes and entertainment are obtainable by calling any Jaycee.

Rod Hannah, chairman of the event reminds Romulus residents that the Jaycees are a non-profit civic organization and that all proceeds from the event eventually return to the community through other projects carried on by the Jaycees throughout the year.

The Jaycee club also announced that its seeking new members between the ages of 18-35.

Interested persons are asked to contact Al Bossidis, membership chairman, at 941-0154 or 941-0289.

THE NEW EAGLE STRATEGY MACHINE — Romulus will shift into a new era this year as Bill Hardy (at left) takes command of the football team. The new head coach will have

Ray Gunnell, Andy Miller, Don Foley and Steve Reese to assist him. Hardy and the Eagles will make their 1972 debut on Friday, Sept. 15 when they host Inkster.

Belleville's on schedule

Everything's going according to plan as Belleville and Coach Keith Emerson prepare to host Dearborn Heights Robichaud for the Tigers' nonleague opener.

The two teams will meet Friday, Sept. 15 at 8 p.m. at Belleville.

"We scrimmaged a couple of times last week and I felt we did a decent job," said Tiger coach who begins his third season at the helm of the grid machine. "But it's really too early to say where we stand on a lot of things."

The Tigers, who were hit hard with injuries last year, will need some help in their running game, despite the return of All-Area back, Mike Dansard who was named to the newly revamped Suburban 8 Conference team after churning out the yardage and standing out as a safety. In the pass-reception department Belleville also should be tough. Senior Terry Pate, who hauled down 25 aeriels is around again and he'll be completing his third varsity season.

Other regulars, who helped post a 5-4 won-lost Tiger record a year ago (the best record in nearly a decade), will have to come through as Alan Eockter, a starting tackle (6-1, 200-pounds), Bruce Ford (fullback-safety), Tim Wellday (end), Jerry Cole, (6-1, 170-pound guard), Mike Beck, (6-2, 170-pound end), Ralph Cohen (5-11, 210-pound fullback) Stan Mars (5-9, 150-pound halfback) and Ron Bluhm (5-11, 180-pound tackle).

Belleville, which lost to the Suburban 8 Conference defending champ, Allen Park, 7-6, in the last seconds on a fumble, has a lot of "ifs" in 1972.

Emerson has to find from his flock adequate fill-ins for his depleted starting ranks, caused by graduation, and if a take-charge quarterback is discovered in time and the Tigers stay away from key injuries, they may improve upon last year's impressive record.

"If we have the proper attitude and leadership," stresses Emerson, "and can become more consistent on defense and offense, this could be a good football year for us."

The Suburban 8, going into its second year, is considered one of the toughest athletic conferences in the state. Along with Belleville are aligned such powers as Dearborn, Edsel Ford, Plymouth, Redford Union, Allen Park, Livonia Bentley and Trenton.

Offensively, the Chiefs will need help, despite the return of quarterback Mario Gracia, considered one of the best in the league. Gracia's passing arm is a bright spot but if enough able bodies for the offensive line aren't found to give the co-captain time to find receivers, the Chiefs will be in trouble.

The air routes must be open if Huron is to come anywhere

Allen Park, ranked among the best football clubs in the state last year, appears to have the workhorses again to retain the football crown. However, the challengers should make it tough for the defending champ.

Emerson pointed out "that everyone's tough in this league."

And the Tigers will find out just how true that statement is as the season progresses.

season championship race on September 9 and the final race of the 1972 season is scheduled for September 16.

Joy Fair of Pontiac, Michigan, has the Late Model Stock Championship clinched and will take the lion's share of the $2,000.00 point money posted by Marathon Oil Company for the season point championship.

Denny Pace of Plymouth, Michigan, has secured the number one spot for the Figure 8 division drivers and can coast to the season championship, however Pace has his sights set on the top prize money suffered to the winner of the season championship race on Saturday night.

Then, since this area has produced a pro football athlete — Frank Nunley, ex-Belleville High and University of Michigan star, contact the San Francisco 49er linebacker and set up an interview for the Football Special.

Mission impossible.

You've undoubtedly heard that commercial, "dial direct"? Well for the past two hours we have been dialing direct and the only person we haven't been able to get is Nunley.

When that guy on the phone said: "This is the western White House," I hung up and gave up.

Nunley, of course, is presently breaking skulls in the 49ers' camp and even his pretty wife hasn't seen him lately.

"I'll tell him you called, Tom," said Mrs. Nunley. "But, I only see him on weekends and sometimes not even then."

And all I want was a photo, a recent one at that, of the rugged linebacker.

And I'm glad to see that the Wayne-Westland Board of Education has reserved its stand about leasing the John Glenn High School football stadium to the Westland Youth Athletic Association Little League football teams.

The teams have played on the Glenn gridiron for the past several years and it appeared as if they would have to seek shelter elsewhere. They did. And the Cherry Hill Board of Education came to the WYAA's aid and offered it the use of Cherry Hill High School's field.

However, that's in the past.

But also the fans and little leaguers in the WYAA should leave behind them a practice that led to their sudden expulsion.

According to a reliable informant, one of the reasons why the Wayne-Westland board of education took the drastic measure of refusing the WYAA game and practice time was "the kids and parents and fans used to leave such a mess behind that it was difficult to clean."

"If you don't believe me, just go to one of their games and see for yourself," said this reliable informant, "they're really filthy."

If this is true, then the WYAA has the responsibility of keeping the grounds and stadium as clean as possible.

After all, the WYAA are visitors.

The Garden City high schools are going to lose a couple of outstanding athletes to the Catholic schools.

Steve Savini and Mike Wiacek, who were key figures in brining Garden City the national Sandy Koufax baseball championship recently will be heading for Dearborn to attend Divine Child High School this fall.

Wiacek, a 5'10, 170-pound athlete, was tagged by the Knoxville Courier "as one of the best catcher's in the nation in his age group (13-14)," while Savini, who stands 5'10, 150-pounds, is an all-round athlete who has tremendous potential.

Wonder what the preps see in D.C. after all Tony Versaci isn't there anymore.

Dear Tom:

I have read the recent letter from Mr. Ron Kuban about your "bad" news coverage of sports events. I would like to take an opposite attitude about your coverage. I cannot recall when I was ever dissatisfied with the coverage of our sporting events in Canton.

I do agree with you that a "limited staff" prevents some coverage, but if, as you stated, the other recreation departments, managers or players did help with an active interest in reporting their "sporting events", the events would not become "ancient history".

Thanks, Tom and Jim, for the cooperation you have given Canton.

Respectfully,

Frank A. McMurray

KEY TO VICTORY — Belleville will launch the cross country season with a new coach, Bob Boudreau, and a couple of veteran runners in Chris Palnau (at left) and Mark Davis (at right). The Tigers, always a threat in the long-distances have the nucleus of a team that could repeat as the Western Wayne Invitational champ. Belleville and Boudreau will make their debuts tomorrow when they face Ypsilanti in a nonleague meet at 4 p.m. on the Braves' course.

near a winning season, says Rossow.

"They know we have a good QB in Gracia," said Rossow, "and we have to base our game on his talents. He's able to throw short and the bomb, so we'll take this into consideration and undoubtedly so will our rivals."

There are eight other regulars who fit into the Chiefs' master plan. Jamie Hinojosa, the other co-captain, is back at one of the linebacking spots while Keith Thompson's job at center or guard is his and Dana Kemp will be fitted into one of the defensive halfback jobs and at end on offense.

Also, Malloy Connley, a senior, is working out as a halfback — both ways — and Dan Berry will team with freshman Bill Grover at tackle. Grover is 5-foot-11, 230-pounds.

The other promising candidates are Jim Sitz, defensive tackle; Jeff Hessler, a junior end, Dan Durham, a 5-foot-11, 175-pound halfback and Tim Hinojosa, a 5-foot-10-170-pound junior, who is the backup man at quarterback and who may see some action as a halfback.

Where will the Chiefs go from there is a big question.

Big Kahuna goes after 'big' one

Big Kahuna, one of the top horses in Gene Riegler's hard-hitting stable, is in from Scioto Downs to contest the $8,500 Madison Heights Invitational Pace with six familiar favorites Saturday night at the Hazel Park Harness Raceway.

The Madison Heights Invitational headlines another strong 10-race card that offers more than $44,000 in purses. Post time for the first race is 8:30 p.m.

The secondary feature, the Pontiac Preferred Pace, drew 14 contenders. Director of Racing Bill Connors split the event into two $6,200 divisions of seven each. Local Time and Easy O may be hard to catch in the first section. Kimtruder, Hava Good and Tee Cee could be tough in the second bracket.

Skinner Gene Marx, Dave Butler and Shiway Lad — all winners in invitational events at Hazel Park this season — are back in the Madison Heights test with Breadman George and Track Master.

Greg Wright will drive Big Kahuna, who has already won invitational at Sportsman's Park in Chicago, Scioto Downs in Columbus and Wolverine.

95 netters compete in Canton

Despite a pesky rain fall that dampened the inaugural Canton Township Parks and Recreation's Open Tennis Tournament, 90 tennis players from 20 separate communities showed up to compete for trophies in the seven age divisions.

The tournament, under the directorship of Ray Adams, was staged at the new Canton High School on Canton Center Rd.

In the girls 15 and under division Lynn McNamara from Plymouth was the winner. She defeated Liz Moehle also from Plymouth 6-0, 6-2 in the final match.

In the girls 16 to 18 Patty Hayden from Plymouth won her final match against Jenny Wallace from Trenton 6-3, 6-4.

The women's 19 and over saw a very close match that had to be completed under the lights in Livonia. Janice Martin from Livonia won by a score of 7-6, 6-4 over Elly Muma also of Livonia.

In the boys 15 and under division Dan Zolkowski from Allen Park beat Gary Petro of Plymouth in the finals 6-1, 6-1. The Boys 16 to 18 division saw Bill Moehle from Plymouth win his trophy by beating Don Dipaolo of Trenton 6-1, 6-0.

There was a special senior division for men in the over 50 age group. Both of the men in the finals were from Plymouth, however, they had never played each other before. Len Koeninger won the deciding match 6-1, 7-5 just before the sun went down on Tuesday against H.O. Foster.

The men's singles 19-50 saw tennis of a very high caliber when Robin Wideman of Plymouth, defeated two strong opponents in the tournament. Robin beat Chuck Hemeyer from Livonia in the semifinals 6-4, 6-1 and Bruce Davidson of Farmington in the finals under the lights of a private court in Plymouth (thanks to Elmer Wipple) 7-6, 6-1.

Schools ordered to warn students before punishment

Lincoln Consolidated School District officials have been ordered by the Washtenaw County Circuit Court Judge William F. Ager Jr. to allow a warning period before punishing students for violating a dress code banning long hair and mini-skirts.

The court decision was handed down Wednesday on a suit filed by Mr. and Mrs. Robert C. Haushaler, parents of a Lincoln Consolidated High School senior, Brook Haushaler, 18, of 8049 Tea Ticket Lane, who was sent home about 10 times last year because of long hair.

The suit asks the court to issue an injunction to have the dress code enforced equally and not in a discriminatory manner, as alleged by the parents. Attorney for the Haushalers told the court the lawsuit was not aimed at attacking the code but ensuring its uniform enforcement.

The dress code was approved by the school district voters in 1969 and later upheld by the U.S. District Court in Detroit as "reasonable."

Judge Ager did not rule on the request for an injunction against enforcement of the dress, saying an offender should be given 48 hours to comply before being suspended from classes.

He promised to entertain a motion for a hearing during such a 48-hour period.

Romulus school enrollment expected to jump by 150

Romulus Community Schools will open for full-day sessions today with an increase of 150 students over the 1971-72 school year, School Supt. Robert L. McConeghy reported.

School enrollment for the new year stands at 6,500 students, he reported, an increase of 150. Forecasts are that this enrollment total will show further increase during the coming year.

The school district will use portable classrooms this year. There will be two portable classrooms at Romulus Junior High School, two at Gordonier Elementary School and one at Harrison Elementary School. The portable classrooms at both Gordonier and Harrison schools will be used for special classes, McConeghy said.

The school district will have a staff of 289 teachers this year, an increase of 32.

The current total school millage for the Romulus Community School District is $30.65 per $1,000 of assessed property valuation. Of this millage assessment, $27.65 per $1,000 of assessed property valuation is solely for operating expenses.

Negotiating teams representing the Romulus Board of Education and the Romulus Education Association (REA) have been holding contract talks for the teaching staff and as yet have not reached a settlement.

It was reported a weekend session is planned by the negotiators.

for the Romulus Community Schools, and School Supt. Robert L. McConeghy. The proclamation's purpose is to draw attention to the many adult services provided by the Romulus Community Schools.

Industrial medical center to be built in Romulus

A building permit for the construction of a new industrial medical center has been issued by the Romulus Building Department.

The proposed medical facility will be erected on the east side of Middlebelt Road, between Ecorse Road and Smith Street, by the Pine Engineering Co. of 7845 Middlebelt Rd., Romulus.

According to the plans submitted to the Romulus Building Department, Pine Engineering is remodeling the second floor of its Romulus headquarters for the medical clinic.

The center will have 4,000 square feet of available space for offices and medical facilities.

Estimated construction cost of the remodeling, including the installation of a one-story elevator, is estimated at $27,500. The building permit fee cost $118.

When completed, the clinic will serve employees of the Woodhaven Plant of the Ford Motor Co., Detroit-Metropolitan Airport and other area plants.

NEW SCHOOL OFFICIAL — James W. Garfield, 45 of 15015 W. Cross St., Ypsilanti, has been named assistant school superintendent for the Romulus Community School District. Garfield fills the vacancy caused by the departure of William E. Jakad, who is on a 12-month health leave. Garfield is the former superintendent of the Crestwood School District, Dearborn Heights.

Zoning board to meet

The Van Buren Township Zoning Board of Appeals will hold a meeting at 8 p.m. Sept. 11 at the township hall, 46425 Tyler Rd.

The board will discuss eight appeals on zoning regulations, variances and requests for special zoning approvals.

Among the cases to be heard include appeals by Gerald Gragg, 46217 Chatsworth St., who wants to operate a business from his home, Edward Rose and Sons, 23999 W. Ten Mile Rd., Southfield, for approval to erect a sign in the vicinity of the I-94 Expressway, and Floyd Germain, 9410 Jackson, who has requested permission to operate a business in a residential zone.

WMU master's awarded

Dunayczan was among 808 students who were graduated with master of arts degrees.

Holding company forms subsidiary

Southeastern Michigan Holding Co., the parent company of Security Bank and Trust, head-quartered in Southgate, announced the formation of a real estate subsidiary.

The principal objective of the subsidiary will be to assist the holding company in financing its present and future real estate investments.

The new subsidiary, called Southeastern Realty Co., was established Aug. 9.

Its first acquisition will be the site and construction contracts of Security Bank's new 14-story main office in Southgate. The tentative date for the transfer of the property from Security Bank to Southeastern Realty is Nov. 1. Lowell L. Peacock, president of Southeastern Michigan Holding Co. stated the real estate subsidiary may eventually own all of the real estate that is occupied by Security Bank and any additional real estate that may be acquired in further expansion.

The officers and directors of Southeastern Realty Company are: Douglas A. Hayes, chairman of the board; Lowell L. Peacock, president; Thomas R. Stewart, vice-president; Anthony C. Owen, treasurer; and Hugh K. Mullen, secretary.

Monroe church has 'Oktoberfest'

St. John's Church, 511 S. Monroe St., Monroe, is holding an "Oktoberfest" from noon until 9 p.m. Sept. 30 and Oct. 1 on the parish grounds.

There will be German food served on Saturday and Sunday with a chicken-barbecue on Sunday from noon until 5 p.m. in Shaw Hall. Donation for the dinner will be $2 for adults and $1 for children under 12.

A variety of entertainment will be offered throughout the day. There will be game booths of skill, rides and musical entertainment. Refreshments also will be available.

This year's profits will be used to support St. John's School.

The festival is sponsored by the parishoners of St. John's Church. Larry Aldridge is general chairman and Mrs. Arthur Meyer is dinner chairman; Mrs. Robert Bushroe and Mr. Terry Serbin are booths and grounds chairmen.

Benefit claim should be filed promptly

Layoff: Where do you go for assistance?

By WILLIAM FAUST, State Senator, 13th District

EDITOR'S NOTE: This article was written by State Sen. William Faust (D-13th Dist.) on unemployment benefits available under the Michigan Employment Security Act.

Job security could soon become a remote experience in Michigan. In July, the state's unemployment rate rose to 10.7 per cent, compared to 5.5 per cent nationally.

About one out of every 10 workers in the Detroit area was unemployed. (Because unemployment statistics are compiled on an area basis in Wayne County, it is not possible to indicate unemployment rates for specific Western Wayne County communities.)

Other major cities in Michigan were similarly afflicted. During June, unemployment in Battle Creek stood at 8.6 per cent; in Flint, at 9.4 per cent; Grand Rapids, 8.6 per cent; Lansing, 6.8 per cent; Muskegon, 12.3 per cent; Saginaw, 7.5 per cent; Port Huron, 19.8 per cent; Jackson, seven per cent; Kalamazoo, 7.6 per cent; Bay City, 14.4 per cent; the Upper Peninsula, 11.3 per cent.

The victims of this unnatural increase in unemployment are most often surprised and shocked. Presuming they had job security, some understandably had failed to ask themselves, before a layoff, how they would support their families if they were to become unemployed or whether they would be eligible for benefits from the Michigan Employment Security Commission (MESC).

In response to several inquiries made to my office on unemployment benefits and recognizing that more and more workers may one day depend on such benefits, I would like to outline some basic facts on unemployment benefits in this two-part series of articles.

To be eligible for any benefits, a worker must have earned at least $25.01 a week for 14 weeks, within 52 consecutive weeks, with employers who are subject to the Michigan Employment Security Act.

Some types of employment are not automatically subject to the MESA, but may be covered by unemployment compensation on a voluntary basis. They include agricultural labor; domestic service in a private home or non-profit college club; domestic service in a private home or non-profit college club; fraternity or sorority; employment by certain relatives; services while employed by certain non-profit organizations; service of certain real estate and insurance agents on a commission; service in certain logging operations on a piece-work basis; services of teachers or instructors in non-profit private schools or colleges; services of band or orchestra members; service performed for certain organizations, such as labor unions, if the organization is exempt from the Federal Income Tax and if the earnings of the individual are $50 or less in a calendar quarter.

Qualification for benefits from the Michigan Employment Security Commission also requires a worker:

- to register for work with the MESC;
- seek work in addition to being registered with the employment service;
- be able and available for work (of a character for which he is qualified by past experience and training) on a full-time basis;
- serve a one-week waiting period in which he earned no wages or a week in which his earnings were less than his benefit rate, which will be discussed later;
- to personally file a claim with the MESC and continue to report to the MESC office on a weekly basis, or as directed by the commission.

The commission may, however, waive registration and waive the requirement for seeking work for 45 days if so notified by the employer or where it finds suitable work is not available both where the individual lives and where he earned his base period credit weeks.

Under provisions of the MESA, a worker is not eligible for compensation during a leave of absence, although he may receive compensation if he reports to the employer at the end of his leave and finds no work available.

Workers who meet the eligibility requirements for benefits from the MESC will receive three weeks of benefits for each four credit weeks, or calendar weeks during the 52 consecutive calendar weeks prior to establishing a claim in which he earned more than $25 with the employer covered by the MESA.

A person regularly employed may earn up to a maximum of 26 weeks of benefits. Although it has been possible, in the past, to collect up to 52 weeks unemployment benefits under special state and national programs, the present limit is 26 weeks because neither program is operating in Michigan as of this writing.

In 1970, the state passed an extended benefits provision as part of the regular amendments to the Unemployment Compensation Act. Under this provision, benefits are extended to workers for 13 weeks when the state's unemployment rate has exceeded 4 per cent and continues to do so or when the federal level of unemployment exceeds 4.5 per cent.

TOOK 4-H HONORS — Bryan Neely, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Neely, 4441 Bemis Rd., Belleville, took reserve champion fitting and showmanship honors in Section Eight at the 1972 4-H Horse Show Aug. 24 at Michigan State University. Neely, a 4-H member for the past four years, was one of 400

This program was triggered into effect on Oct. 11, 1970, but was ended on Jan. 1, 1972 because the unemployment rate in Michigan did not continue to increase. The fact that the unemployment rate was more than 4 per cent made no difference. Benefits under this program were funded 50 per cent by Michigan and 50 per cent by the federal government.

In the meantime, the federal government approved legislation which provided that workers could be paid up to 13 weeks temporary compensation, under full federal funding, when the level of insured unemployed in a state exceeded 6.5 per cent.

These benefits were in effect in Michigan for a period of six months. Although the program could have been extended by act of Congress for an additional six months, this extension was not granted and the program has not been in effect since July 29, 1972 in Michigan.

In all, some 378,000 workers in Michigan have exhausted eligibility for benefits.

Every person qualifying for benefits under the MESA should be well aware of the fact that he can lose the first six weeks of benefits if he leaves work voluntarily without good cause attributable to the employer; is discharged for misconduct (including intoxication) in connection with his work or refuses to or fails to report for a work interview; was discharged for participating in a wildcat strike, loses his job because of conviction of a crime and incarceration other than for a traffic violation.

Twelve weeks of benefits will be forfeited if the worker was discharged for assault, theft or sabotage connected with his work.

To qualify for benefits, a worker must, during the six or 12 qualifying weeks, either report to his unemployment office and show he was eligible for benefits aside from the disqualification, earn or receive remuneration of more than $25 or receive waiting week credit or benefits based on credit weeks earned after the disqualification.

Unemployed workers who meet the requirements, described in yesterday's article, for qualification under the Michigan Employment Security Act should waste no time in filing a claim for benefits.

Such workers are advised to report on the first "reporting day" after he is laid off so as to receive full credit for the period since the layoff.

A worker's "reporting day" is determined by the last digit in his social security number. If the last number is 0 or 1, he should report on Monday. If it is 2 or 3, he should report on Tuesday; 4 or 5, on Wednesday; 6 or 7, on Thursday and 8 or 9, on Friday.

He need not file his claim on the day he is laid off, but can wait a week from then without losing any benefits.

Application for benefits must be made in person at any Michigan Employment Security Office. In this area, offices are located at 1185 Monroe, Dearborn; 2444 W. Seven Mile, Redford; 34528 Sims Ave., Wayne; 987 S. Mill, Plymouth. Office hours are 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

A worker who has left Michigan can file a claim in any state to which he has moved or if he is looking for work in another city in the state, he can file his claim in that city.

A social security card, applicant identification card (sometimes called an appointment card) and one other piece of identification such as a driver's license should be taken by the applicant every time he goes to the MESC office.

The applicant should also take the Unemployment Compensation Notice to Employer form, which he will receive from his employer, the first time he goes to the MESC office.

Applicants must fill out both an application for unemployment benefits and an application for work, which goes to the Employment Service.

Care should be taken in accurately filling out the application because deliberate falsification may result in a fine or imprisonment and the applicant will lose his rights to remaining benefits, be forced to pay back any benefits wrongfully received or may lose six weeks of benefits after those benefits wrongfully received have been paid back.

A clerk will review the application and arrange for the applicant's next reporting date and time.

Applicants must continue to report to their local office on the proper reporting day, usually once a week, or as directed by the commission.

Although the law permits late filing of a claim for "good cause," it is very difficult for a worker to obtain benefits when he files late.

If a worker is laid off for one week but returns to work before his "reporting day," he should report his claim at the earliest time possible without laying off from work.

While returning to work is considered a good cause for late filing, a late claim must be received within seven days after a worker's last appointment.

When there is no opportunity to get into the local office, a claim may be filed by mail when the employee has returned to work, but it must be received by the commission within seven days after his last appointment.

Weekly benefits depend on the number of dependents a worker has and what his average weekly earnings were. A dependent may be:

- A child (including a step-child, adopted child or grandchild) under 18 years of age or any age if he or she is unable to work because of mental or physical infirmity;
- A husband or wife who earned less than $21 during the week before the benefit year started;
- A father or mother who is 65 years of age or older or permanently disabled from engaging in any gainful occupation;
- A brother or sister under 18 or any age if he or she is disabled and either are orphans or dependent on the unemployed worker.

Dependents must also depend on the worker for more than half of their support for 90 days before the benefit year begins to qualify as dependents.

If an unemployed worker is married and-or becomes a parent before the benefit year starts, he may count a spouse and-or the baby as a dependent, but they may not be counted as dependents if the worker was married and-or became a parent after the benefit year started.

A worker with no dependents is defined as family class "A"; one dependent other than a child, class "B"; one child or two dependents other than a child, class "C"; three children or two children and one dependent other than a child or one child and two dependents other than a child or four dependents other than a child, class "E"; two children or one child and one dependent other than a child or three dependents other than a child, class "D".

Finally, a worker is in family class "F" if he has four or more children, or three children and one or more dependents other than a child, or two children and two or more dependents other than a child, or one child and three or more dependents other than a child or five or more dependents other than a child, or one child and three or more dependents other than a child or five or more dependents other than a child.

A schedule of unemployment benefits is available at any Michigan Unemployment Compensation Commission office. As noted in the previous article, an unemployed Michigan worker may now receive benefits up to a maximum of only 26 weeks.

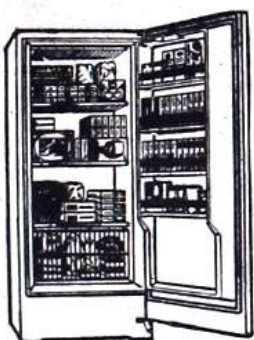

He may, however, receive a double payment for the last week for which he received benefits if he has been laid off for more than three weeks and gets a new full time job or returns to his former employer within 13 weeks.

Grand Vally State orientation attended

Several Romulus area students have participated in orientation programs this summer at Grand Valley State College, Allendale.

Those entering or transferring to the College of Arts and Sciences, the largest of the school's three colleges, were the following Romulus residents: Betty Houvener, 35780 Garner; Timothy Miank, 12041 Schultz; Carl E. Seestedt, 11576 Olive St.; and Marty Vaught, 36866 Fern-dale.

Also, from New Boston was Edward Michaels of 27070 Wattry Rd.

Campus tours, classroom visits, social events and course planning highlighted the three-day sessions for groups of more than 100 students each week of the summer months.

Fall term classes will begin on Sept. 27.

MODERN LIBRARY — This updated version of the library, once a quiet separate room, is now part of the living room or the den. Here, an elevated "library wall" in rich walnut paneling and matching wall-hung shelves and cabinets brings a modernized feeling to a room that is a warm and appealing place to either sit alone or to entertain.

Super handyman

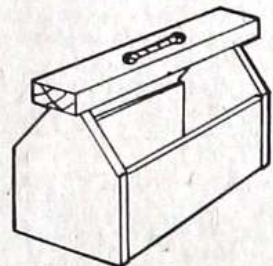

Bet on this combo toolbox-sawhorse

By AL CARRELL

Dear Al:

Many a home handyman makes his own wooden toolbox. I have. I employed a twist that I find quite helpful. Instead of putting a dowel across the top as a handle, I used a 2"x4". This makes the entire toolbox into a miniature sawhorse (or would you call it a saw pony?) Be sure the 2"x4" is mounted on a solid box. To carry the toolbox, I made a rope handle which fits down in a slot between two holes so when you need the flat surface of the sawhorse, the rope is out of the way. I've really found this to be a winner.

you say, then you have to spend time looking for it among the garbage in the canister. Not if you will cover the end of the vacuum hose with a piece of nylon net held in place by a rubber band. Turn the vacuum on, and the small part will be sucked up against the net and not go inside.

P.A.

Al Carrell welcomes all mail, especially tips from fellow Handymen which he can pass on to readers as space permits. While he cannot answer all individual letters, he will try to nail down your problem in his column whenever possible.

Remodeling? Get the best!

Dear Al:

Get your wife to save those spice tins with the pry-off lids. They become excellent containers for all sorts of small tacks, nails, screws and the like. I put a strip of masking tape around the cans so I can label them. Being flat cans, they store nicer on shelves or in a toolbox than other kinds.

T.W.K.

Dear Al:

A dining room chair with a rough spot in just the right place can cost you a fortune in nylons if it isn't fixed right away. We had one that snagged three of my wife's hose. Being the king of the procrastinators, I didn't want to rush right in and sand and refinish the place. However, I also didn't want to keep buying new hosiery. I covered the snag spot with a piece of clear plastic tape. It can't be seen, and there's no longer a trap for nylons. I plan on this temporary job lasting about 20 years.

Mr. Put-it-Off

A super hint — If you have to take a paint sample to the store in order to select a color that goes with it, you probably don't want for it to dry on a piece of wood. Touch a brush to the inside of an empty matchbook folder. Close the cover, and the wet paint sample can be safely carried in your pocket.

IMPROVE YOUR HOME

Solutions abound when tackling problem of books

Books play a much more dominating role in decorating than they ever did when precious volumes were locked away behind glass doors. Three times as many books are sold now than 15 years ago — notwithstanding the ubiquitous TV set — and they are spreading up and across walls and to all rooms of the house.

Contemporary houses and apartments, constructed without so much as a bookshelf, are suddenly found to be bursting at the seams with books. As a result, architects, designers and homeowners themselves have been provoked to devise imaginative solutions to the accommodation of the rising book tide. These may be for rooms that just invite relaxation, or semi-offices where work has to be done. They may be for kitchens, to take care of the cookbooks that multiply alarmingly in this age. They may be for foyers and hallways of apartments because there is room nowhere else. And they could be for dining rooms, bedrooms and even bathrooms.

Solutions to the book storage problem abound and can be wide-ranging in material and construction. One of the most flexible installations is the shelf that can be moved from one place to another on slim rails fastened to the wall. This means, for example, that a collection of oversized books can be stored simply by making more height between shelves. The most elegant version of this moveable shelf is the one from Danish designer Poul Cadovius, known as System Cado, in which the wall is paneled in rich woods and matching shelves hang invisibly on the special panels themselves.

One of the most logical but often overlooked spots to assemble a library is a hallway. Most of them have a great deal of wasted wall space. Then there is the space between windows, around windows, and over doors. In a house with a fireplace, of course, the recesses on one or both sides of the chimney breast have always been a favorite place for bookshelves. In crowded city apartments, even coat closets have been turned into miniature libraries. When you run out of walls, there are open room dividers that not only store the books but give you an extra wall. Hiding ugly beams and exposed pipes could be another architectural advantage of bookshelves. Because books are now regarded and used as an integral part of the decoration of a room, the mixture of books with all kinds of other objects, ranging from records to glass, ceramics and travel mementoes, gives a pleasing fascination to a wall of shelves.

'Rec' room can please everyone

Some family rooms cause more fussin' and feudin' than fun. And, when they aren't a source of enjoyment for all, it's usually because the room wasn't properly planned.

To be sure the family room suits all of the family all of the time, keep these suggestions in mind:

—Furnishings should be comfortable — for everybody. Beanbag chairs and plastic hassocks are great for youngsters, but older backs need more support. If you use "fad" furniture, also include a conventional sofa or a couple of easy chairs.

—Agree on the decor. No one can relax surrounded by decor that sets his teeth on edge. Way-out posters and geometrics are fine if everybody likes them. Otherwise, select a more "neutral" theme.

This doesn't mean the room should be dull. Family rooms are often the most stylish in the house. Evidence of this is the popularity of prefinished hardboard wall paneling for family rooms. The panels are available in a variety of styles that make them suitable for any decor: formal, "mod" or casual. This includes a wide range of woodgrain designs, decorator colors, and patterns such as burlap, basket weave and cane which have an interesting textured appearance.

—Make sure the room is abuse-proof and easy to care for. Use modern fabrics, upholstery, carpeting and wall coverings (even the most elegant-looking) that are designed with durability and minimal maintenance in mind. For example, prefinished hardboard, which resists marring, scuffs and dents, needs only an occasional damp-wiping to keep it clean.

—Make sure the room is large enough for the family to spread out. If there isn't enough physical space, create the illusion of roominess by the adroit placement of furniture. For instance, set up a conversation corner, a reading corner, a TV corner and a game corner.

—Provide essentials such as good reading lights, tabletop space for games or hobbies, bookshelves and storage space. The latter is easily created with a panel or two of perforated hardboard, available in finishes that match regular wall panels. "Hanging" hardware and shelf brackets fit into the perforations to make an attractive and convenient storage wall.

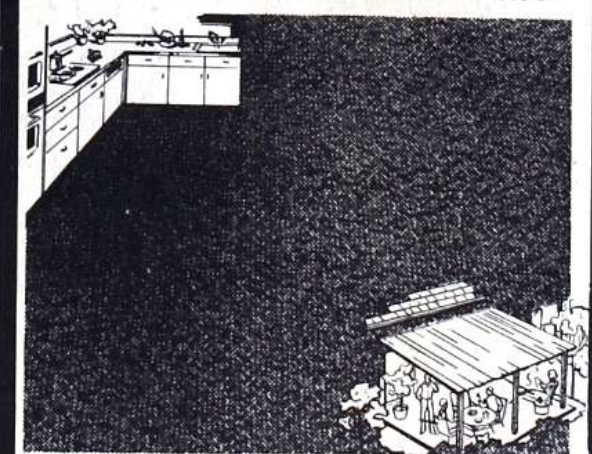

Court creates scene

When dining room serenity is spoiled because the window looks out on a dreary scene, the answer is to provide a new view or garden court.

Enclosing an area outside the room with a fence of western wood 1x2s placed vertically on frames of 2x4s and 4x4-inch posts lends a delicate background for added plantings.

If the room has sliding glass doors, or they can be added, the new mini-garden makes an enjoyable setting for late breakfasts or evening dining.

Rawsonville Elementary School — Kathleen Gray, second grade; Jeradi Palmer, fifth grade; and Faye Youngs, art.

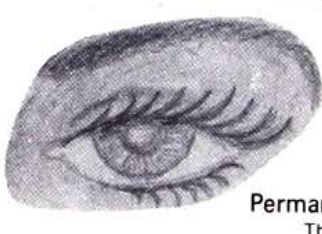

Denton Road Elementary School — Karen Vandecar, music. Sumpter Elementary School — Jean Sala, Section Three. The speech department's new teacher is Sandra Rahilly.

Hearing slated

The Van Buren Township Planning Commission has set Sept. 27 as the date of a public hearing on a rezoning petition involving a 24.03 acre land parcel located at Huron River Drive and Haggerty Road. The land site is presently zoned R-1B (single family residential). The public hearing will be on a proposed change to R-M (multiple dwelling).

The hearing will be held in the township hall, 46425 Tyler Rd., starting at 8 p.m.

Local A&P fined $100

A fine of $100 has been assessed against Belleville's A & P Supermarket, located at 201 Third St., Belleville, by the Michigan Liquor Control Commission.

The commission found the supermarket violated liquor control laws by selling before noon on Sunday on Aug. 6. The store has a special designated license (SDM) which permits the sale of beer and wine for off-premise consumption. The A & P Tea Co., owner of the supermarket, was given until Sept. 25 to pay the fine.

Resident attends Alma

Eric A. Wyche, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ezra Wyche Sr. of 27111 Sumpter Rd., Belleville, is one of 340 members of Alma College's freshman class who will begin a five-day orientation program on Saturday, Sept. 16.

The college's fall term begins on Thursday, Sept. 21. Wyche is a graduate of Airport Community High School.

Real swimmers

Nearly all species of algae are aquatic.

New teachers added in Huron

Six new teachers have been added to the teaching staff of the Huron School District, School Supt. Byron K. Antcliff announced.

The new teachers and their assignments are as follows:

Nancy DuFort, an Eastern Michigan University graduate, will teach speech therapy in all of the district's schools.

Nancy Garbarino, EMU graduate, will teach math and drafting at Huron High School.

David Richards, Michigan State graduate, will teach fifth grade at the Hannan Road Elementary School.

Cheri Ford, Central Michigan University graduate, will teach first grade at the Hannan Road Elementary School.

Carol Pennings, Calvin College graduate, will teach sixth grade at Huron Junior High School.

Eugene Smith, Olivet College graduate, will teach sixth grade at Huron Junior High School.

SPORTY LITTLE SAVER.

Our Datsun 1200 Sport Coupe; it's fun and frugal at the same time. Around 30 miles per gallon. Reclining buckets, safety front disc brakes, whitewalls, full vinyl interior, even tinted glass are all included. Drive one soon. Have fun.

Special Offer: Test drive a Datsun before Oct. 15, and we'll pay to have a tree planted for you by the U.S. Forest Service in a national forest. And give you a free Ansel Adams poster, too. Drive a Datsun. Plant a tree. Nice for both of us!

Grand Opening

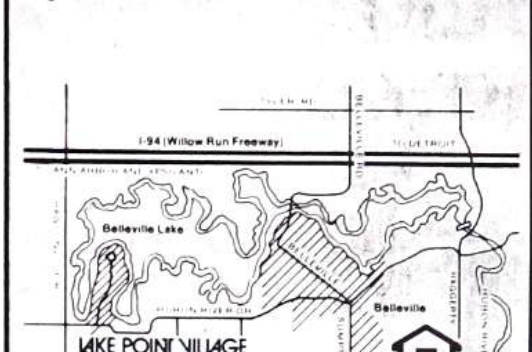

Where Every Day Is A Holiday

Live at Lake Point Village and you'll discover a world of leisure activities. Boating, swimming and water skiing in the summer. Fishing and biking in the spring and fall. Skating and tobogganning in the winter. In fact, almost any sport you can name is just a few steps from your door. Because Lake Point Village is situated on a beautiful peninsula that juts out into Belleville Lake. You have all the advantages of a lakefront home, plus outstanding community facilities including a luxurious clubhouse and swimming pool, a private putting green and complete recreation areas. And just a few blocks away, you'll find an 18 hole golf course and riding stables.

And you'll have the time to enjoy your favorite sport, time to entertain your friends and neighbors and time for quiet relaxation. Because Lake Point Village is a condominium and provides maintenance free living. No more grass to cut, leaves to rake or snow to shovel. All exterior maintenance is handled by the Village's professional staff.

You'll be delighted with the luxury and comfort of your townhome. You may choose either the two or the three bedroom model—both provide wall to wall carpeting, individually controlled gas heat and central air conditioning, full basements, generous closet space and ceramic tiled baths. There's a huge family kitchen completely equipped with a 14 cubic foot, frost free, double door refrigerator, continuous cleaning oven, dishwasher and garbage disposal as well as wood cabinets and plenty of formica counter space. Each townhome is built with such care and skill that it carries a 3 year written warranty. And Lake Point Village is convenient to churches, shopping and—most important to you—excellent Van Buren neighborhood schools.

Take I-94 to the Rawsonville Road exit. Drive south to Huron River Drive, then go east on Huron River Drive to Lake Point Village. Model hours: 10 AM to 8 PM Monday through Saturday, Noon to 6 PM Sunday. Or call 483-4810 or (800) 452-2785 (Toll-free) for further information.
